Ever wonder what goes on when the Mississippi Legislature is in session? So did we. That's why we decided to meet up with state Rep. J.P. Compretta and state Sen. Scottie Cuevas and follow them around for a couple of days...

Inside the Capitol

Speaker Pro-Tem J.P. Compretta at the podium in the House Chamber this week in Jackson. The legislature will be in session until May 9. Below: Bay St. Louis Mayor Eddie Favre and Councilman Tom Favre were also visitors at the capital this week, checking on the bill for the MOST tax, proposed by the Mississippi Municipal League. It had not come up at the House Ways and Means Committee as of Thursday.

If you haven't had the opportunity to visit our state capital at Jackson you should consider doing so. Especially during the legislative session, which ends this year on May 9. I guarantee that it will be an experience to remember. But don't expect to just sneak in and take a look around because the people up at the capital treat visitors

Murder victims' identities verified

Man, woman found buried at Lower Bay were from Pearl River

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS
Publisher Emeritus

Autopsies performed Wednesday by Dr. Paul McGarry and investigative information have led to the identification of two murder victims found in a shallow grave near Clermont Harbor last week, Sheriff Steve Garber said.

Chief Investigator Kenny Hurt identified the two as Steve Bossier, 42, and Melissa Polk, 26, both of Pearl River, Louisiana.

"Since the bodies were discovered by the new property owners of the 13 acre site on Lower Bay Road, sheriff's investigators have been working around the clock interviewing

Artist finds emotion in nature

SUSAN CRANE

- Resident of Bay St. Louis
- Native of Alexandria, Va.

Echo: Where did the inspiration for this piece come from?

Crane: This comes from the feelings I get from experiencing the plant life and the weather. I cannot be just the observer. I feel and almost taste them as they grow. There is a vitality and energy that hits in waves much as the humidity and heat pummels the senses. The raw nature of the storms and the always encroaching water seeps, seethes and smashes its way into my consciousness. I have not been able to ignore that demand.

Echo: What do you like most about this work and why?

Crane: I like the emotion and movement that really conveys the power I feel on the Coast.

Echo: Why did you choose to talk about this particular artwork?

Crane: My painting shows the ferocity, movement and raw beauty of the surroundings: the rain, the wind, the storm and the voracious growth of diverse life springing forth so violently it overpowers all that is around it.

Echo: What did you hope to accomplish with this work?

Crane: I wanted to accomplish a feeling. I wanted people to see this and understand the power in such a peaceful place. People look at nature and the don't always experience the emotion. I wanted to put that emotion out there so others could experience it like I have.

Wellman joins in request for investigation

U.S. PET Resin Producers Coalition announces petitions seeking unfair trade relief involving imports of PET bottle resin from India, Indonesia, Taiwan and Thailand

SEA COAST ECHO
The U.S. PET Resin Producers Coalition filed petitions recently with the United States Department of Commerce and the United States International Trade Commission requesting that the agencies investigate the Coalition's allegations of unfair international trade practices by PET bottle resin producers in India, Indonesia, Taiwan and Thailand.

The petitions include dumping claims against producers in India, Indonesia, Taiwan and Thailand.

The countervailing duty assertions claim that the Indian and Thai industries have been unfairly subsidized by their respective Governments.

Central to Petitioners' injury claims is the fact that the producers in the subject countries are selling PET resin to the United States at prices that are well below their own fully loaded costs.

The prices of these import sales do not reflect the substantial cost increases for raw materials that constitute the major cost for all PET resin producers worldwide.

The Department of Commerce will investigate the claims of dumping and subsidization.

The International Trade Commission will investigate issues pertaining to injury and threat to the domestic industry by reason of the unfairly traded imports.

Petitioning members of the U.S. PET coalition are: DAK Americas, LLC, NanYa Plastics Corporation America, Voridian, a Division of Eastman Chemical Company and Wellman Inc.

Inquiries concerning the antidumping and countervailing duty petitions should be addressed to Counsel for the United States PET Resin Producers Coalition, Michael A. Hertzberg or Juliana Cofrancesco at Howrey Simon Arnold & White, LLP. E-mail hertzbergm@howrey.com or cofrancescoj@howrey.com or telephone (202) 383-6527 or (202) 383-7252.

Boil water notice lifted

Local officials and Steve Jones, spokesperson for the water system, today lifted the Boil water notice for people who live in White Cypress Lakes Subdivision and get their water from the system no longer need to boil water prior to consumption.

Users were first advised to boil their drinking water March 19. Multiple tests performed by the Mississippi state Department of Health Laboratory indicate the water now meets the standards of the Safe Drinking Water Law.

Firearm Safety

Mississippi Highway Patrolman Shelby Smith III, assigned to Hancock County for the past 10 years, accepts the gun safety kits for handgun and shotgun from Bay Police Chief Frank McNeil.

Firearm safety kits at Bay P.D.

The Bay Saint Louis Police Department will provide 200 free firearm safety kits to local residents through a partnership with Project ChildSafe, the nationwide firearms safety education program. The safety kits, which include a gunlock, will be distributed beginning Tuesday from 9 a.m. - 3 p.m. at the Bay Saint Louis Police Department 310 Old Spanish Trail. Safety kits will continue to be available Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday 9 a.m. - 3 p.m. until all of the kits have been distributed.

"We will be distributing these safety kits free of charge to local residents. Firearm owners who request a tee safety kit will receive it, no questions asked. A key goal of the program is to prevent a loaded firearm from being left lying around the house where a child could pick it up and play with it. That's a tragedy waiting to happen that we don't want in Bay Saint Louis," said Bay PD Chief Frank McNeil.

"There is a firearm safety pamphlet that is included with a gunlock and is just as important as the lock itself. It explains the importance of safe handling and secure firearm storage in the home. I encourage everyone to read it and follow its advice."

Project ChildSafe, a program developed by the National Shooting Sports Foundation, will distribute millions of firearm safety kits throughout the country over the next year. The program is funded by a U.S. Department of Justice grant with additional funding provided by the firearms industry.

By partnering with Project ChildSafe, Bay Saint Louis is participating in a growing national effort to promote firearms safety education to all gun owners. "We are pleased to have the Bay Saint Louis Police Department as a Project ChildSafe partner," said Dee Dee Dockings, spokesperson for the program. "Project ChildSafe is an important step forward in helping ensure that all firearm owners full understand their responsibilities with respect to the safe handling and storage of firearms."

"A loaded gun should be under your full control and supervision at all times. When you're not able to supervise that loaded firearm, it should be unloaded and securely stored and these locks will provide an extra safety measure and for anyone without secure storage, it will certainly provide a major safety measure. If you choose to keep a firearm for home security, you should consider buying special lockable cases that can be quickly opened only by you," McNeil said.

Cuevas' Quotes

by Ellis C. Cuevas
Publisher Emeritus

The older I get, along with the more I write in reference to law enforcement officers, the more I appreciate the job they have to do.

I have been to some terrible scenes over the years, holidays, all hours of the day and night and of course, law enforcement officers were there. To give you an idea of the various tasks they face, take this week for instance.

On Sunday right before noon, Hancock Investigators were called to investigate a possible murder victim in a shallow grave.

Before it was all over with, there were two people, a male and a female, found in the grave.

Along with four personnel from the State Crime Lab, the investigators worked until after midnight removing the two murder victims. Now, it was not until late Monday afternoon that I visited the site to take photos and the smell was still unbearable.

Law enforcement folks had to work in the smell for over 12 hours to remove the victims, who had been dead for several weeks.

Then you take into consideration that a law officer never knows what type of situation he or she is responding too. They place their lives on the line every time they put on the uniform.

For sure, law enforcement officers are not really paid the salaries they deserve.

This is something every citizen needs to push to change.

"I'm Not Your Mama," is the theme of the March - May 2004

Mississippi Clean-up Campaign.

Locally, the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's Beautification Committee, together with elected officials of Hancock County in cooperation with the Mississippi Department of Transportation and Keep Mississippi Beautiful Commission are spearheading a Countywide Clean-up Campaign.

In order for this cleanup to be successful, there is a need for all businesses and private citizens to join in the Fight Against Litter.

In order to accomplish this, we all need to "Take Pride, Take Responsibility and Take Action."

Among the ways YOU can help:

- Set an example for others by using trash receptacles and NOT littering;

- Carry a litter bag and portable ash tray in your vehicle;

- Use twine to secure loose trash put out for outside trash collection;

- Tie papers into a bundle before placing them curbside for recycling;

- Cover all open loads on trucks;

- Make sure trash can lids are on tight and that trash goes into the can;

- Set an example by not littering, no matter where you are.

- Whenever you visit a park or beach, carry out what you bring in.

An this list goes on and on.

As Myrtle the Turtle Says: "Take Pride, Take Responsibility, Take Action. Join in the Fight Against Litter."

Good news for sportsmen

The Senate has passed legislation that will help conserve our wildlife, our environment and enhance the outdoor recreation experience for Mississippi's sporting public.

Contained in the recently passed six-year transportation bill is funding that will enhance roads and trails throughout our nation's national wildlife refuges, protect wildlife, promote safe boating, protect wetlands and improve marine sanitation.

As a member of the Congressional Sportsmen's Caucus - a group of Senators and Representatives who share a love for the outdoors - I've joined my colleagues to secure almost $1 billion for the nation's outdoor recreation projects during the next six years.

This includes $30 million per year for roads in our National Wildlife Refuges, $60 million per year for recreational trails, $50 million a year for recreational roads - all of which make enjoying and appreciating the outdoors easier for millions of Americans.

This initiative also includes $15 million annually for better culverts and bridges designed to improve fish passage and enhance fish population.

As part of the transportation bill, Sportsman's Caucus members are advocating reauthorization of the Sport Fish Restoration Act, which is the primary funding source for state-based fishing and boating programs.

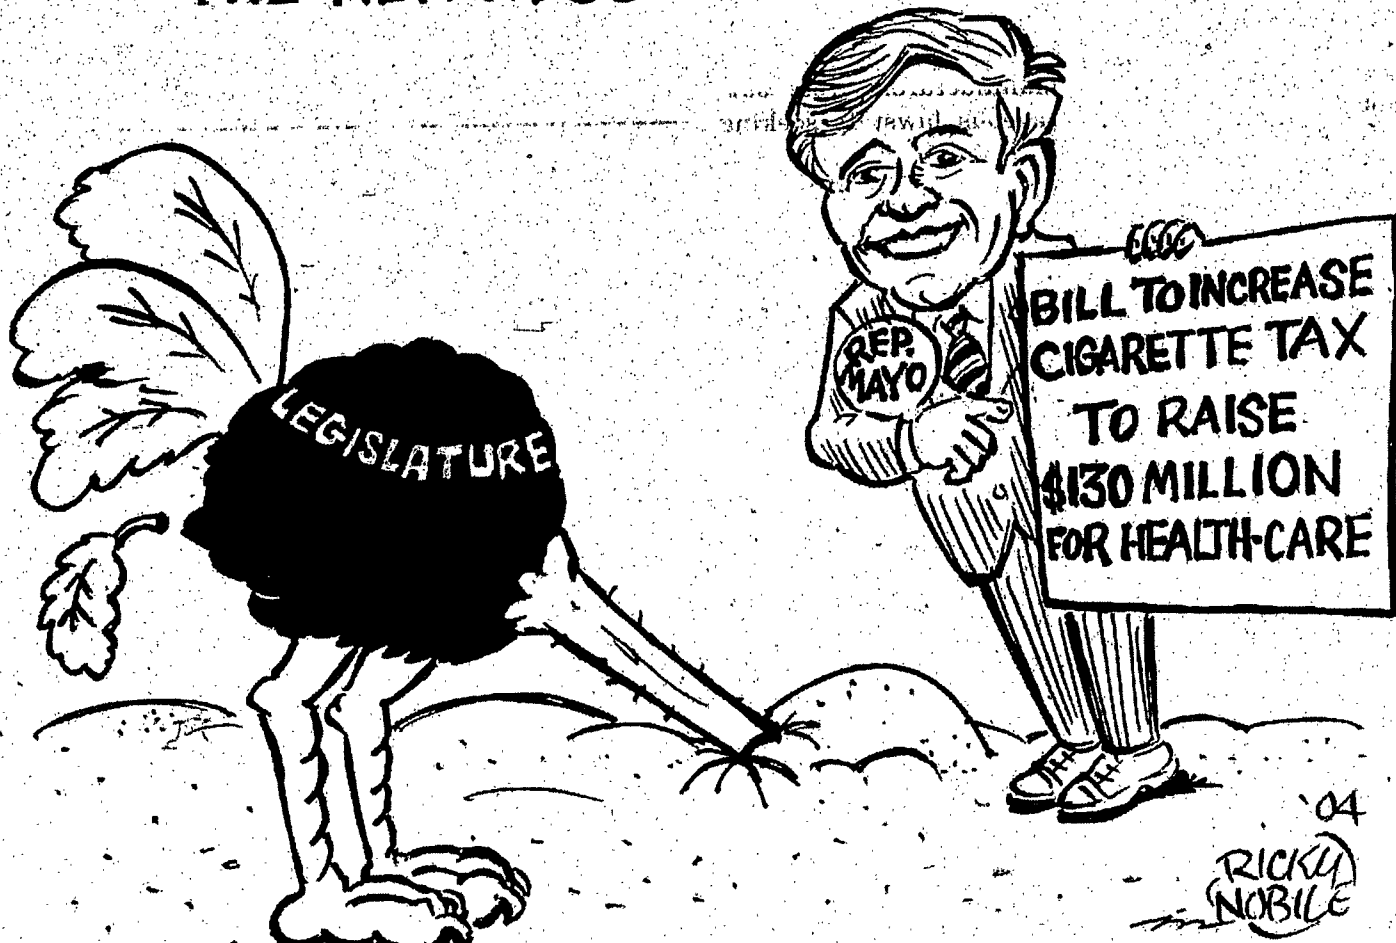

This act has considerable implications on Mississippi's boaters who are now preparing their craft for another season.

Waveland resident questions city's use of portable john near memorial

To the city of Waveland: I cannot believe what I saw Saturday, March 20, 2004.

"Paws on Parade" on Coleman Avenue.

Yes this was a wonderful event but did you have to disgrace our Veterans Memorial?

Yes, you did disgrace our lovely Veterans Memorial. Whoever heard of putting a Port-O-Let right next to the column of the memorial? Especially since the city of Waveland had spent money on restrooms by the gazebo which is not far from the memorial site.

There were also two spaces across from the memorial plus a parking lot where the Port-O-Let could have been put.

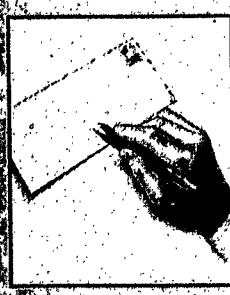

Post 77 takes great pride in the Veterans Memorial. Men go out there and make sure it is clean and free of litter.

We have had flags and palm trees stolen from the memorial. Now we have a Port-O-Let put side by

Time to revisit telecom policy

BY RICK STEWART
Regional Manager
BellSouth-Gulfport

Recently, the nation's telecommunications policy turned 8 years old. Signed into law in early 1996, the legislation pre-dated the invention of the web browser, the rise of the cell phone as the 'must have' accessory of every American teenager, and the wave of wireless Internet gadgets that have made their way into our pockets and purses.

Back in 1996, dial-up Internet access was "cutting edge." Sophisticated broadband applications, instant messaging and Internet telephony were a mere glint in a technologist's eye.

Remember our world as consumers? It was largely one company, one service, one choice. There were no nationwide calling plans with unlimited weekend and evening minutes. No high-speed broadband...no WiFi...no Blackberries...no cable company calling up offering telephone service.

It was a different world, which warranted different rules. As a result, Congress passed a law suited to a monopoly environment: one that sanctioned a heavily government-managed telecommunications marketplace.

Today, we live in an entirely new world when it comes to how we communicate. More than 8 million Americans have "cut the cord," becoming wireless-only households. One of the largest "telephone" companies in the country is a cable company.

Traditional communications networks are seeing a real decline in usage as more conversations take place via email and instant messaging. Now, experts predict that Internet telephony is the "new, new thing," poised to rapidly and fundamentally transform the communications marketplace—bringing more choices, services and value to you.

Without question these are positive developments. It doesn't take a policy expert to prove that a promising, innovative new communications marketplace has emerged—one that is defined by competition among cable, satellite, wireless and traditional telecom platforms and a growing array of consumer choices.

This new world holds extraordinary potential for our economy and our quality of life. Unfortunately, this promise—largely remains on hold thanks to an outdated policy—the Telecommunications Act of 1996—that continues to insist all these new choices do not exist.

Rick Stewart

As a result, there are two worlds in communications today: one micro-managed by intense federal government regulation and one that exists entirely outside that framework.

Local telecommunications companies alone are trapped in the old rules limiting their ability to invest and bring new services and choices to consumers.

It is time for Congress and federal regulatory authorities to bring these worlds together and write a telecom policy that frees all companies in the new communications marketplace to invest and compete head-to-head for business—speeding needed investment, services and opportunities across the country.

The U.S. Court of Appeals for the D.C. Circuit recognized this recently, when they vacated much of the Federal Communication Commission's decision which set rules for determining how much of a Bell telephone company's network had to be leased to competitors at below market rates.

Momentum is building for reforms that unleash the power of real competition in the telecommunications sector. Key leaders on Capitol Hill are calling for timely reforms.

And, leading business voices, including the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, are speaking up for modern rules that encourage investment and embrace free-market principles.

FCC Chairman Michael Powell's recent remarks to the National Association of Regulatory Commissioners General Assembly offered up the promise of possible regulatory reform.

Powell said, "We are well-advised to pursue regulatory policies that invite, nurture and promote innovative activity in the digital age, or we stand to lose out on its rewards."

They see what we all see in our daily lives today: The future isn't on its way. It's already here. The Telecommunications Act of 1996 may have served a purpose in the old world. But it fails to serve the nation in today's ever-changing landscape.

It is time for a new policy that looks to the future and ensures it is a bright one for consumers and for our economy. In short, it is time for the nation's telecom laws to catch up with our lives.

captures the full 18.3 cents per-gallon motorboat fuel tax for these state-based outdoor programs.

Previously, money collected from this levy had been going to Washington. This legislation keeps more tax money close to home, benefiting the same people who actually pay the motorboat fuel tax.

It's always been my philosophy that, while no one likes to pay taxes, money raised from tax levies should stay local whenever possible, where it can benefit those who pay the taxes.

This is very similar to the initiative I've led to recover more of Mississippi's gas-tax dollars from Washington.

As any motorist or sportsman knows, every time we buy gasoline we pay a tax that goes to Washington, specifically to the federal Highway Trust Fund. Mississippi has traditionally been a donor state, meaning for every dollar we pay in gas tax, we only received a portion back to maintain our state's roads and bridges. I've worked to gradually bring our percentage up.

Today, Mississippi receives about 90 cents for every dollar it contributes to the Highway Trust Fund, and the transportation bill could bring this reimbursement up to 95 cents, good news for sportsmen and all those who buy lots of fuel and travel extensively on Mississippi's roads.

On another note important to Mississippi's sportsmen, the Senate recently considered legislation that would protect the nation's firearms manufacturers from outrageous lawsuits seeking to blame them for crimes committed with guns. That legislation failed, but ironically from the view of many gun-rights advocates, it's probably best that it did, for now.

Liberal, anti-gun Senators tried to advance their gun control agenda by attaching anti-gun amendments to the bill, including an extension of the controversial Clinton assault weapons ban.

Many Senators who support sportsmen and the 21st Amendment, including myself, decided it was best that we scrap the bill rather than be compelled to extend this controversial 10-year-old legislation, which has yet to be linked with a discernable drop in crime.

Make no mistake: Senators supporting gun rights and America's sportsmen intend to protect firearms manufacturers and gun-ownership, but it's imperative that we do it with clean, uncorrupted legislation that protects firearms industry jobs and firearms ownership without conditions. I'll keep you posted.

Dane Knight

Local gymnast qualifies for regional championships

Dane Knight, age 9, of Bay St. Louis, earned a spot on the Mississippi Boys Gymnastic team. He was one of the top five competitors that qualified at the State Meet in Hattiesburg, on March 6. He will represent Mississippi in the Regional Championship which will include 6 other States, AL, GA, FL, SC, NC, and TN. It will be held in Jackson, Ms, in April of this year.

Dane is the son of Doug and Michelle Knight of Bay St. Louis, and is in the fourth grade at Bay, Catholic Elementary School.

The action on the diamond and on the court continues to dominate the area high school circuit. On the court, Bay High won three matches last week. On March 18th, the Tigers recorded a 3-2 win over East Central followed by a 5-0 shutout win over Picayune on March 24th. On March 25th, they recorded a 4-1 victory over Gautier.

Against East Central, Marquez Singleton defeated Glyn Bowman 6-1, 6-1 in boys singles. In girls singles, Taylor Montgomery of East Central defeated Lisa Schroeter 6-2, 6-3. The Hornet duo of Win Williams/Justin Godlewsky defeated Kyle Sjostrom/Jared Dunklin in boys doubles 6-2, 6-4. Bay High's Hannah Johnson/Eva Igres defeated Tiffany Tanner/Audrie Cirlot 6-0, 6-1 in girls doubles. In mixed doubles, Chris Magee/Kelly Callahan gave Bay High the win with a 6-2, 6-0 decision over Ashley Stawter/Josh Adkinson.

In the shutout win over Picayune, Marquez Singleton started the day with a 6-1, 6-0 win over Justin Sumrall. Lisa Schroeter won by forfeit in girls doubles while the team of Jared Dunklin/Jason Sims defeated Cordell Myles/Daniel Wise 6-0, 6-0 in boys doubles. Hannah Johnson/Eva Igres teamed up in girls doubles to give Bay High a 6-1, 6-1 win over Debra Howell/Alison Robinson. The shutout was preserved when Kelly Callahan/Chris Magee served up a 6-1, 6-1 decision in mixed doubles over Cale Pastorek/Jane Watkins.

In the 4-1 win over Gautier, the lone blemish was in girls singles when Heather Calvert defeated Lia Schroeter 7-6, 6-1. In boys singles, Singleton continued his hot streak with a 6-0, 6-0 win over Matt Parker. In boys doubles, Jared Dunklin/Jason Sims defeated Kenny Zitzelberger/Adam Carlisle

6-0, 6-2. In girls doubles, Hannah Johnson/Eva Igres won 6-4, 6-2 over Kelly Staup/Ciara Toney. Chris Magee/Kelly Callahan defeated Jon Havlik/Jessica DeBose 6-0, 6-1 in mixed doubles.

On the diamond March 20th, St. Martin swept Hancock in a double-header 17-10 and 8-1. Hancock was up 7-0 in the first game before the Yellow Jackets came from behind to win. Thomas Laudisi, Tyler Ball, and Seth McIntosh all had round-trippers for the Hawks.

On Monday, March 22nd, Bay High defeated D'Iberville in fast-pitch softball 10-0. Katie Barrett pitched a one-hit shutout with 8 K's. Sarah Favre led Bay High (7-4, 2-2) at the plate with three hits and four RBIs.

On March 23rd, the Hattiesburg Tigers shutout the Hawks 13-0 while D'Iberville defeated Pass Christian 5-0 in Division 8 Class 4A action. The Pirates (10-8, 2-4) were led by Dustin Allen's two hits. Vancleave downed the Rocks (7-10, 3-3) in division action 6-2.

On March 22nd, the SSC golf team competed in a four-team 9-hole tournament held at Pass Christian Isles. SSC had a team score of 161 to win the match. Picayune was second with a 203 followed by Pearl River Central with 216 and Pass Christian with 272. Low medalist honors were shared by James Wahl and TJ Koger of SSC with a 2-over 38.

Where's the Chief?

Hancock County Sheriff Steve Garber welcomes Tommy Cutrer, president of the Louisiana Southeast Chiefs of Police Association, to the county. Approximately 50 police chiefs and their spouses attended the annual meeting, which was held for the first time in Mississippi. Hancock County resident and retired chief, Glenn Doré from Delcambre, La., hosted the event on March 18 at Ramada Inn in Diamondhead.

Games -- Coast seniors

April 15-18, 2004.

Impson is in charge of registration for the first Senior Games to be held on the Coast and said, "Registration is open until April 1, and of the 200-plus already registered, we have a large number from Bay St. Louis, Waveland, Diamondhead, Kiln and other parts of Hancock."

"By the time registration is complete, we expect to have about 400 to participate in this great fun time for seniors."

"You know, this is a great experience for men and women seniors. We have one registered all the way from Washington State. The oldest is one gentleman from Lafayette, LA, who is age 91 entered into the 100 meter, 200 meter and 400 meter sprints."

"For a first year event, we're thrilled with the interest we have generated among participants," said Randy Tarver, President, Coast Senior Games board of directors, and program developer for the Area Agency on Aging. "I think the appeal is so broad because we offer something for every athlete with competition ranging from badminton to ballroom dancing. Plus, many people are excited about the fitness benefits of training and competing for the various events. It not only sets a good lifestyle example for people of all ages, but paves the way for future Coast Games successes."

The Mississippi Gulf Coast joins Hattiesburg and Tupelo in scheduling similar senior games.

Additionally, the Coast Senior Games, sanctioned by the Mississippi Governor's Commission on Physical Fitness and Sports, is affiliated with the Mississippi Senior Olympics, an annual event staged in the greater Jackson area.

"We are delighted to have a regional senior games event on the Coast, our state's second largest market," said Joyce Anderson, executive director of the state Senior Olympics. "Any event of this nature helps promote our annual Mississippi Senior Olympics and, in turn, senior wellness."

Venues in Harrison, Hancock and Jackson counties, will utilize the entire Coast for the Mississippi Gulf Coast Senior Games. Keesler Air Force Base in Biloxi will feature bowling at Gaudé Lanes and volleyball and racquetball in Blake Gym. Other Biloxi sites include ballroom dancing at the Imperial Palace, track and field events at Yankee Stadium and swimming at the Biloxi Natatorium. The Herbert Wilson Recreation Center in Gulfport will hold badminton, shuffleboard, and table tennis, while tennis is at Gulfport's Bayou Bluff Tennis Club. Also in Gulfport is the 5 K Run/Walk starting on Second Street. Basketball is at the Pascagoula High School Gym and horseshoes at City Park in Ocean Springs. Additionally, an evening welcome reception will be at the Beau Rivage on April 16.

The Bridges, an Arnold Palmer signature course at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis, will host golf May 5-6.

In addition to participation from numerous Coast athletes, organizers expect to draw competitors and guests from throughout Mississippi and the Southeast region. Economic impact to the Coast economy is estimated in excess of $350,000.

"Of course we're pleased with the revenue forecast for the Coast, but more than anything, we're thrilled with the support we have so far received from our supporting partners and community sponsors," said Tarver.

The Mississippi Gulf Coast Retiree Partnership, the Hancock County Tourism Development Bureau, the Mississippi Gulf Coast YMCA, and numerous Coast chambers of commerce are among the supporting partners which share the Senior Games interest in senior fitness and recreation, and have pledged to help recruit athletes and event management volunteers.

For entry forms and more information, visit the Mississippi Gulf Coast Senior Games website at www.seniorgamesonthe-gulfcoast.com or contact Roger Derby at 875-9698. numerous people, seeking possible identification information," Hurt said Thursday.

"All of the sheriff's investigators have been working around the clock with very little sleep this past week -- and will be this weekend too."

"I estimate we have much more than 300 man hours into this case and now are focusing as to whom may have committed the crime. I do think we set our sights on a prime suspect, but, we still need to tie up a few ends," Hurt said Friday.

The bodies were discovered by a couple who purchased the land earlier in March, while they were doing some clearing work last Sunday morning. They noticed where an animal had been digging and saw a man's arm in a hole and notified the sheriff's office.

Working from Sunday afternoon until past midnight, investigators and Crime Lab personnel removed the two murder victims from the shallow grave in moist soil.

Hurt said that in order not to disturb the victims, the Crime Lab folks used tongue depressors and small tools.

Area fire departments and individuals provided lights Sunday night for the grim chore, and Hurt said he was very grateful for their help.

The cause of the deaths has not yet been released.

Republican Women's Club to meet April 1

The next regular meeting of the Hancock County Republican Women's Club will be held at 11 a.m. on Thursday, April 1, at the Diamondhead Country Club.

Guest of honor and guest speaker will be Brenda Wood, two-term president of the Mississippi Federation of Republican Women and one-term second vice president of the National Federation of Republican Women.

She is presently serving as a board member of the National Federation. All members are urged to attend.

Great Books discusses 'Of Justice and Injustice'

Of Justice and Injustice by David Hume is the topic of discussion at the Great Books Discussion Group meeting on Wednesday, March 31, at 7 p.m. in the Seal Room of the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library.

The selection is from An Introduction to Great Books, First Series. Several copies are available for checkout at the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library.

The Great Books discussion group, sponsored by the Hancock County Library System, has been meeting and discussing books since March, 1990. During that time, they have read more than 345 titles from great books (Plato, Hobbes, Locke deTocqueville), Mississippi fiction, play readings and 20 philosophical questions. The group meets every other Wednesday at 7 p.m.

The Great Books Foundation was established in 1947 by University of Chicago Chancellor Robert Maynard Hutchins. Its mission is to provide people of all ages, backgrounds and walks of life with the opportunity to read, discuss and learn from outstanding works of literature.

Today, more than 20,000 adults are members of Great Books discussion groups, and nearly one million students participate in Junior Great Books groups for grades kindergarten through 12.

Anyone is welcome to attend the meetings. The only requirement is that you read the selection before the meeting. For information, call Jamie Elston at 467-5282.

Cleaning, dogs and rainy days to highlight library system story hours

Who Made This Mess? is the theme for the story hour at the Waveland Public Library on Tuesday, March 30, at 10:30 a.m. Karen Cotton, branch manager, will read Messy Bessy's Closet Mess Pets and Mouse Mess. Children will make a clean up craft sheet.

Dogs! Dogs! Dogs! is the theme of the story hour at the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library on Wednesday, March 30, at 10:30 a.m. Susan Daigre, program coordinator, will read Dogs! Dogs! Dogs! Dog Gone starring Otis and No Dogs Allowed. Children will make a colortime sheet.

Rainy Days is the theme for the story hour at the Kiln Public Library on Thursday, April 1, at 10:30 a.m. Karen Strange will read One Monday, Right Outside My Window and One Rainy Day. Children will make a paper umbrella craft.

Weekly story hours are held September through May. Programs last approximately one half hour, depending upon subject matter and planned activity.

Programs and activities are designed for pre-school age children three to five years old who are not part of a nursery or pre-school group.

For individual branch story hour information, contact Jamie Elston, Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library, 467-5282; Sandra Ladner, Kiln Public Library, 255-1724; or Karen Cotton, Waveland Public Library, 467-9240.

It's been over four years since God called you to heaven.

Time has not healed our pain, sadness, or grief. We're sorry you didn't have more time to live your full grown-up life.

We're sorry you were called to heaven, still so young.

We were all very proud of you and more proud for the person you would have become.

Did someone not realize you had a family?

That you were a son, brother, nephew, grandson, cousin, and friend? Did someone not know this?

You will always be with us in our hearts. Rest in Peace.

We love you always,
Your Family and Friends

Your weary hours and days of pain,
Your troubled nights are past
And in our aching hearts we know
You have found sweet rest at last.

They say time heals all sorrow,
And helps us to forget;
But time so far has only proved
How much we miss you yet.

Louisiana offers training to help bring new NASA center to Stennis

Louisiana is offering $1 million in job training to help bring a new federal complex to Stennis Space Center in Mississippi.

The NASA Shared Services Center would consolidate the agency's financial management, human resources, procurement and information technology, and bring 500 new jobs to Stennis.

And, based on current patterns, about one-third of those workers are likely to live in Louisiana and commute to Stennis, Louisiana Gov. Kathleen Blanco said.

"The jobs created by this venture will be quality jobs with good salaries," she said.

NASA's 10 field centers are competing for the new center, which could employ as many as 750 federal and contract workers, with an estimated average annual salary of $60,000.

Stennis's proposal calls for Mississippi to pay for a new 125,000-square-foot, $21 million building. Mississippi's House and Senate have passed similar bills for $19.5 million in bonds, with the rest to come from local governments.

Stennis employs 290 Civil Service workers and 1,200 NASA-related contractors. At least 25 percent of the people working at the center live in Louisiana.

"We're very grateful to Louisiana," Mississippi Gov. Haley Barbour said. "They can't invest in the real estate. Louisiana has come forward to offer $1 million for work force training. That is a huge plus for us. Let me tell you this, there is not another site where a state is willing to participate where the site is going to be in a different state."

Stennis is one of six NASA centers competing for the center. Others are: Johnson Space Center in Houston; Kennedy Space Center in Orlando, Fla.; the Glenn Research Center in Ohio; and Langley, Va., and Huntsville, Ala.

On Monday, officials at Stennis, members of Mississippi's congressional delegation, state lawmakers and Louisiana officials, presented their case to NASA Administrator Sean O'Keefe who was visiting the space center.

Barbour said he hopes

O'Keefe and NASA will see that Mississippi and Louisiana supports placing the center on the Gulf Coast.

"This is something that has been supported by local officials, federal and state leadership in Mississippi and Louisiana," Barbour said. "We've made what we think is a compelling package that we presented to the administrator. They've (NASA) had a lot to look at and a ways to go, but I believe we've put our best foot forward."

Jackson -- your tax dollars at work

from their home districts like royalty, with true Southern hospitality.

I don't know what the capital is like when the legislature is not in session, because this was my first visit ever, but for the two days I was there it was as lively as a circus with something going on all the time. You might run into a mayor from a city across the state, your own mayor, or visiting city officials from as far away as Russia. I ran in to all three on my visit. And everyone was happy to be there.

Getting to the capitol building was easy and the traffic in the area was pretty light. Parking can be a problem, but just directly by the building because it is all reserved for the legislators and staff. I drove into the circular drive and asked the guard for the media parking. Are you here to see J.P. Compretta, he said. Yes, I said, surprised. Park right over there, he said, pointing to a place right at the front door (well, actually the back door). I pulled into the spot labeled Speaker Pro-Temp. I told you they liked visitors.

I went up to the third floor where the House and the Senate chambers and the Speaker Pro-Temp's office is located. People don't really call you name in the formal legislative setting. They call you the Speaker Pro-Temp, the gentleman from Jackson, Biloxi or where ever the place is that you represent. I walked past the signs that said legislators only and went to Mr. J. P.'s office to check in.

His secretary, Danita, had worked for the former Speaker Pro-Temp and had been kept on in the office. Some temporary employees can lose their job after a change in the administration, she said, but for the most part they are just shifted around to another position at the capital if someone wants to bring in their own people.

Mr. J. P. was at a meeting of the Ways and Means Committee, but by the time I had finished my coffee he appeared and asked if I would like to sit in with them.

On this particular day Representative John Mayo from District 25 was proposing to add another tax bracket to state income tax in which a family of four who make over $34,600 would pay 6 percent of their remaining income to the state, a one percent increase. He was also proposing a tobacco tax increase, a beer and wine tax increase, a hard alcohol tax increase and a casino tax increase. The resulting revenue of about $29.2 million would be used to restore the budgets of Mental Health, Education, Human Services and Vocational Rehabilitation, he said.

A bill has to make it first to a committee, then be actually presented to the committee, then it can go to another committee and finally if it makes it through it will go the House or the Senate for discussion and a vote. Along the way, the bill can be changed, revised, added to, or negotiated or dropped completely. Quite honestly, I'm not sure which combination happened to this bill. There was some discussion, some yeas and nays and then everyone got up and left the room rather quickly. I do know that the bill did not make it out for a vote. I also attended a meeting with Senator Scottie Cuevas with the Economic Development and Tourism Committee where he serves as chairman.

After this we went on to the House Session and later to the Senate Session. This is something which must be seen first hand. Both rooms are massive with elaborate stained glass skylights, marble pillars, and carved wood trims. Legislators are seated at easy chairs with desks in front of each. There are galleries for visitors around three sides of the Senate room and two sides of the House room and on these days they were filled with people. Special guests wait on the floor. As a journalist, I was seated on the floor directly in front of the Speaker's or the Lt. Governor's podium and facing the legislators.

The sessions begin with a prayer by a visiting minister who is introduced quite regally by his legislator. Then the Speaker or the Speaker Pro-Temp or in the case of the Senate, the Lt. Governor ask if there are any introductions. Here is where, you, as a visitor, have your moment. Each legislator introduces whoever is visiting that day from their district.

It can be their aunt, a local official, or the man who runs the gas station, it doesn't matter, as each introduction is accompanied by much fanfare.

The legislator asks the visitor to stand, tells a little about them, and then asks those on the floor to make them feel welcome. The entire room claps for the visitor, everyone, the pages, the legislators, the security people, everyone. I clapped too; the enthusiasm was contagious. It reminded me vaguely of the Price is Right, come on down! But everyone really is happy to see you. I think it is a matter of pride for the legislators to have someone drive all the way to Jackson to attend a session. And the further the drive, the happier they are.

After this, the very special visitors on the floor are introduced and come forward to be greeted, some saying a word or two. On these days, Mississippi's Jr. Miss visited with her friends and family, television's Divorce Court Judge Mablean Ephriam, visited with her friends and family and so did a host of school groups and more. All four of the sessions that I attended began this way and lent an air of celebration to the occasion.

Then it is down to the business of discussing bills and appropriations. The bill or appropriation is read and explained and then each legislator with a comment or question stands in turn to be recognized by the Speaker Pro-Temp or Lt. Governor. Some may have serious questions and some may stand to poke fun at a proposal. To be honest, they all looked like they are having a great time, though I know there is much work involved, much of it in the committee meetings. And to be fair, the House was in session far into the night the evening before I arrived, debating the issue of voter

I.D., which brought back many bad memories for African American legislators. Apparently tears were even shed over the issue, which was defeated.

I knew I would have to leave in the middle of the house session on my second day. I really didn't want to go. After only two days I had barely touched on understanding the process that makes our government work, but I was fascinated by what I saw.

I had said my good-byes earlier, everyone making me promise to visit again. And I know I will because I know I really will be welcome, and State Senator Scottie Cuevas, Bonnie Shalbetter, and Speaker Pro-Temp of the House of Representatives J.P. Compretta at the entrance to the Senate Chamber in Jackson.

I know that everyone will go out of their way to make me feel that way and you too, should you decide to visit.

Daniels-Carr

Christopher Carr and Stacy Daniels

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Daniels of Richton announce the engagement of their daughter Stacy Lynn Daniels of Hattiesburg to Christopher B. Carr of Poplarville. Mr. Carr is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bart Carr of Bay St. Louis.

Miss Daniels is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Ready, Sr. of Richton, Mrs. Hazle Daniels of Richton and the late Hobart Daniels, Sr. She is the great-granddaughter of Mrs. Nancy Hudson of Clara.

A 1996 graduate of R.H. Watkins High School in Laurel, of Jones County Junior College and a 2001 graduate of the University of Southern Mississippi with a bachelor's degree in interior design, Miss Daniels is employed at McRae's Hattiesburg in visual merchandising.

Mr. Carr is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Talmadge Rayborn of Waveland and the late Jimmy and Edith Travirca of Bay St. Louis. He is the great-grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Bill Rayborn of Sumrall, the late Mr. and Mrs. Willie Templeton of Starkville, and the late Mr. and Mrs. Barthelemy Spotorno of Bay St. Louis.

The prospective groom is a 1997 graduate of St. Stanislaus College Prep High School, Pearl River Community College and a 2001 graduate of the University of Southern Mississippi with a bachelor's degree in community health. He is currently the fire chief for the city of Poplarville.

Wedding vows will be exchanged at 3 p.m. April 3, 2004, at the First Baptist Church of Bay St. Louis. A reception will follow at the Diamondhead Community Center. Friends and relatives are cordially invited to attend.

Melton-Smith

Shilo Summer Melton and Jay Alan Smith, both of Fort Worth, Texas, were united in marriage Dec. 20, 2003, in Historic Thistle Hill.

The Rev. Nona Taylor officiated. Soloist was Tony Whidden. Organist was JoAnn Whidden.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chip Melton of Richwood, Texas.

The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Smith of Perkinston, Miss.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. For the occasion she selected an Ivory original design by Bride and created by Bernice Buck, grandmother of the bride.

The dress had a princess bodice with pleat in front and a 10 foot train. The dress has hand beaded snowflakes crafted by the bride's family.

Matron of honor was Tholoco Melton. Bridesmaids included Lise Dorsey, Hollie Smith and Leigh Higgs.

Best man was Ray Smith. Groomsmen were Kendall Ladner, Andrew Novarini and Kit Melton.

A reception was at Thistle Hill.

A rehearsal dinner was held at The City Club of Fort Worth, hosted by the groom's parents.

After a wedding trip to Telluride, Colo. the couple will reside in Ft. Worth, Texas.

Wilson Eugene Pierce and Sheryl Jeanfine Tasselin

Tasselin-Pierce

Ms. Fabienne Tasselin and Mr. Patrick Tasselin, both of Diamondhead, announce the engagement of their daughter, Sheryl Jeannine Tasselin of Fort Worth, Texas, to Wilson Eugene Pierce of Dallas, Texas. He is the son of Ms. Sara Holder of Gautier and Mr. Dennis Pierce of Pascagoula.

The bride-elect is a 1999 graduate of the Mississippi School for Math and Science and a 2003 graduate of Mississippi State University with a bachelor's degree in accounting. He is currently employed with KPMG Accounting Firm in Dallas, Texas.

Sunday, Sunday

From where I lay on the lounge, I could see a small fluffy one coming from the north over the roof, moving fairly rapidly like a puppy running across the sky. Right behind it came another small white cloud, spotlessly clean, scurrying as if to keep up.

I watched the approach of the two for a few moments and then, as they moved to where Stella could see them from her hammock, called her attention to them. She stirred, put a finger in the book she was reading and looked up.

"They are cute," she agreed and watched them for a second. Then, "What are they doing now?"

The first cloud retained its integrity until it was directly over us and then began to break up. It continued to dissolve until finally, as we watched, the small cloud was gone. Behind it the second cloud hurried up and, when it reached the same area of sky, it started to lose its substance. In moments, it too was gone.

Nothing remained of either cloud. The space where the two had been moments before was empty, leaving a broad bright, almost brilliant, blue sky over us.

There was a line of dim clouds on the distant horizon over the waters of the Sound toward Cat Island, but nothing else.

I lay back and licked my lips. It was going to be a hot day.

Cloud watching is a nice sport to do on hot days. Especially on a Sunday like this. Lying on a lounge on the front deck of a beach house is a good place to cloud watch. The oak trees provide cover from the sun and you can lay and watch without too much effort and almost no thought; just sort of a sublevel appreciation of the clouds being there and you in a comfortable position to watch them.

Only today, I realized, there was no clouds. Well, not exactly, if you count those last two, but they had gone to cloud heaven and were with us no more. I settled more firmly on the lounge. It was going to be a rough day for doing what I had been prepared to do.

In 1905, William Murke wrote in his two volume treatise on clouds that the art of cloud watching had been started by Chin Won Lee during the Ching Dynasty in the 13th century. B. C. Murke wrote that the more advanced art of naming individual clouds after familiar objects came much later, but that Chin is the person that started it all.

I thought of this as I stared up at the empty sky and sent up a silent prayer to Mr. Chin. I waited, allowing the prayer to waft upward to the ancient place in which Chinese cloud watchers must sit in regal splendor. I waited...

"Paul, wake up!" It was Stella, "Here come some big ones!"

I looked to where she was pointing. These were big clouds coming again from the north.

These looked like serious clouds. If the other two we saw were Pekinese puppies, these were full grown Saint Bernards.

There were several of these clouds and they moved across the sky in a purposeful way as if on the trail of something to our south that was important. Soon they would be directly over us.

Their very size exuded a sort of righteous confidence. We felt positive that now things were going to happen, that things would cool down and that maybe more clouds would gather where these pioneers were assembling and there might even be an afternoon shower.

Great! We lay there and watched, spectators in a drama as old as the world, but one that was happening to us today. We braced ourselves for the cool breezes and low temperatures that would soon come.

And then, as the clouds moved directly overhead, they started slowly to dissolve.

Stella sat up in disgust and got out of the hammock. "I'm going inside to fix lunch. I'll call you."

I lay there, giving up any hope of seeing more clouds, or of even seeing one cloud. My prayer to Mr. Chin had evidently been misfiled. I began to debate to myself whether to go in and get out of the heat or stay and hope for at least a breeze.

I looked out over the water.

Despite the heat, the air was crisply clear and the water was a vibrant dark blue. As I looked, a large flock of gulls separated themselves from Carrier's pier just to my west and forming a tight group began heading eastward. They flew low over the water just beyond the shoreline, to pass me en masse as they continued toward Bay Saint Louis.

I sat up and finally stood to watch their flight. As they passed they presented a startling contrast: a beautifully pristine white mass of birds moving against a vivid blue background of water.

As I stood entranced, the birds continued their flickering flight down the beach going past Penny's pier and then out of sight toward the Bay.

I turned and headed for the sliding glass door to go inside to tell Stella.

I felt a little better. Mr. Chin had sent me my cloud.

THE SEA COAST ECHO

The Mississippi Quilt Association provides all quilt makers and quilt enthusiasts an opportunity to grow and develop their skills, to gain knowledge about the history of quilt making and to meet new friends with a common interest.

Through the MQA newsletter, The Common Thread, is published three times a year keeping members up to date on the Association's activities as well as being apprised of a wide variety of quilting topics. Three "Gatherings" are held each year with meetings rotating to different areas of the state.

The June Gathering includes all day workshops. Each summer a nationally known quilting instructor teaches an Educational Seminar in several strategic locations around the State.

Anyone who has a love of quilts and quilting, and who is interested in preserving and promoting quilt making, is invited to join MQA. For further information contact: Jerry Ann Dye (228) 392-6364 or Nancy Funderburk (228) 469-9644.

Supreme Court affirms SOS Authority in Tidelands Leasing

SEA COAST ECHO
The Mississippi Supreme Court has affirmed a lower court ruling upholding the Secretary of State's authority in leasing the public trust tidelands and his role as trustee of the tidelands.

"The Supreme Court decision is a victory for the people of Mississippi, who directly elect a statewide official to manage the public trust tidelands they own," Clark said. "The tidelands are held in trust of all the people of Mississippi, and we work very hard to see they are managed wisely."

Columbia Land Development, LLC, sued the Secretary of State in Harrison County Chancery Court in January 1997 after Clark denied a tidelands lease for a proposed casino resort and golf course at Bayou Pottage, an inlet off the Bay of St. Louis.

The Secretary of State's Office negotiates tidelands leases for casino barges, which must be over state-owned water bottoms, called tidelands.

According to court documents, Clark denied Columbia's lease application in part due to the rural nature of the area, negative environmental effects, and expected costs to the community for necessary infrastructure construction.

The case hinged whether Department of Marine Resources, the Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality, the State Gaming Commission, and the Secretary of State, as well as various local authorities.

In the decision, the Court wrote: "The Chancellor correctly found that Mississippi legislation allows the success of any proposed gaming site to be dependent on the approval of numerous state departments and agencies. Each effectively has veto power."

The Court continued: "The Tidelands Act does not guarantee a lease for gaming. Only where, in the discretion of the Secretary of State, with approval from the Governor, it is determined that the granting of a lease would serve a higher purpose than to preserve the natural state of the tidelands, may the littoral landowner be granted a lease."

"The Supreme Court decision is a victory for the people of Mississippi, who directly elect a statewide official to manage the public trust tidelands they own," Clark said. "The tidelands are held in trust of all the people of Mississippi, and we work very hard to see they are managed wisely."

Final Traces of Lent

"Priest Where Is Thy Mass? Mass Where Is Thy Priest?" "Sixteen Priests Tell Why They Celebrate the Latin Mass."

Having heard about the Vatican II aftermath complex for years, you can probably guess as well as I can the multiple quirks and motives behind the predilection of some priests for saying the Tridentine Latin Mass.

A few cursory glances inside the book confirm all the things we expected to find about their attachment to the Latin Mass. However, as Lent winds down, I will definitely grant them this much. The introduction to the Tridentine Mass expresses everything we hope for as human beings.

"Introibo ad altare Dei!" Exclaims the priest. "Ad Deum qui laetificat juventutem meam!" answers the altar server.

"I will go unto the altar of God! To God who gives joy to my youth!"

Although I was ordained toward the end of the Tridentine Mass era in 1957, and even though Latin is a second language for me and greatly pleased me when put to music, I am attached to the vernacular which the people like.

Still, it remains a distinct thrill to recall and repeat that just-quoted introduction to the Tridentine Mass. All of us relate to the timeless desires and longing expressed in that opening prayer, for we all seek fulfilling joy.

In the midst of all the solemn atmosphere and the serious penances of Lent, the constant undercurrent is always the same; the quest for joy.

Even as we age, "To God who gives joy to my youth" grows only stronger.

Everyone is virtually the same in this regard. As we mature, we fight the battle of the mirror, the battle of the bulge, the battle of wrinkles, muscles losing their tone, memory challenges which make us wonder whether our mind is slipping a tad, and a tendency to get into ruts in issues and views.

In stark contrast to the appearance and expressions of such a somber season, Lent calls us back to all the radical basics of our life, including repentance, conversion to God, forgiveness and our insatiable quest for joy.

Popular perception has it that Lent comes across to us as heavily subdued, sorrowful, burdensome and painful. It speaks of things which we find very difficult to give up or do without, and of tasks which we find hard to do.

So draggy is the very idea of Lent that I have a personal dislike for the time after Mardi Gras, even though I have done far more than the equivalent of a Lenten fast for seven years

Reflections on Life

by Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

and eleven months, abstaining from all meats, all seafoods, all milk products, all salt, sugar and caffeine.

Nevertheless, Lent is anything but a drag, despite its forbidding theme and atmosphere. First of all, it is a prime tool which helps us remove the worst source of negative stress: not forgiving others and not being forgiven.

Second, Lent helps to lead us from forgiveness to repentance, conversion to God and the fullness of joy in our lives. At this point, we begin to see and experience "To God who gives joy to my youth," even if we are old.

Lent's heavy theme and ambiance does its job, getting our attention amid all the worldly distractions of life. Grudgingly, in our most sober moments, we do admit that we need such a season as this at strategic times of the year.

Like stubborn mules, we need an occasional jolt to call us back from our preoccupation with the phony sources of joy, as we stretch ourselves out to recapture the vigor, joie de vivre and unbridled joy of youth.

Although we know it is not possible, we remain on a continuous quest to find it.

So it comes about that we frequently experience the height of frustration by the survivors at funerals where we bury people who died very young, in their forties or relatively young in their fifties and sixties.

"He loved life," we often hear. "He loved to party, to second-line, to do the cooking, to entertain, to tell jokes and to laugh. And, of course, he loved people, lively company and all kinds of celebrations."

Naturally, all these things are good and commendable traits which we all would be thrilled to possess within ourselves or see in our relatives and friends. However, they are often stated at funerals as a whistling in the dark sort of thing to mask deep grief over the passing of a very young person.

Such expressions often end up at the cemetery with the libation of a bottle of Coke or whiskey onto the coffin just before it is pushed into its slot. This is close to being the ultimate expression of frustration and dashed hope.

Perhaps the sixteen Tridentine-loving priests are having the same nostalgic twinge about the joy of our youth as we are, except that they prefer to reminisce in the original Latin version of the prayer and reflection.

I must admit, as we no doubt all do, that I have my moments, my special flashbacks when I feel my dynamic food regimen kicking in, sparring my body to some feats of yesteryear and my soul to the joy of my youth.

Scripture Says...

By Ed Young

Be a prayer warrior

"He must increase, but I must decrease." These are the words of John the Baptist. John 3:30.

Dear Reader, do you have this same witness in you? Do you want to put the Lord above yourself? Are you willing to die to self, so that Christ can reign in your life?

"If you will crucify the flesh daily, as the great apostle Paul says we should, than the world will be able to see Christ in our life."

This is not easy to do, for the pressures of daily life are very difficult to cope with. Nevertheless, we must put ourselves under subjugation to the leading of the Holy Spirit.

For we can do nothing without calling upon the Holy Spirit to lead and help us. The Lord must increase and we must decrease; for He must be first in our lives.

If you are not sure if you have God's Spirit in you, just repent and ask Him to come into your life and take over.

You that have received the Spirit of God already and want to live as a warrior for Jesus; then ask Him to Baptize you in the Holy Spirit, as He is doing for believers all over the world.

A wonderful ministry is to be a prayer warrior. A very powerful ministry many can do this.

The "Word" for the Week

Promise of Resurrection

Dennis J. Prutow • Box 308, Sterling, KS 67579

Easter is upon us. Candy rabbits and baskets of chocolate eggs can be found everywhere. The annual Easter egg hunts are planned. It's all a remembrance of spring with a capital 'S'.

Easter is the name of the ancient Teutonic Goddess of Springtime. It's amazing how our sophisticated secular society clings to ancient forms of worship.

At the same time, we dispose of traditional Christian values and worship. Does God expect us to celebrate the annual visitation of the Goddess of Springtime? Not really. We should remember the resurrection of Jesus Christ.

After all, the central holiday of the Christian church is the celebration of Christ's resurrection. So God would have us remember not only Christ's death on the cross but also the fact He rose again from the dead. Of course, although we willingly glorify the Goddess of Springtime, we are much too sophisticated to believe in the resurrection of the dead. But as the apostle Paul said, "Why is it considered incredible among you if God does raise the dead?" (Acts 26:8).

The whole point is, we don't believe in this God of the Bible. We think we can handle life on our own. We push God aside. Then we replace the God of the Bible with secular holidays based on pagan religions. It doesn't make much sense, except to say, we are all religious and have questions. Questions like: Why believe in God? What has gone wrong with the world? Is there an answer to suffering? Can religion really help?

Avalon, Fabian and Rydell bring 'Bandstand' to Bay Casino Magic Fabian, Frankie Avalon and Bobby Rydell will perform at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis.

SEA COAST ECHO

Fifties heartthrobs Frankie Avalon, Fabian and Bobby Rydell perform their sock-hop hits and some of the most beloved music of the bandstand era in two performances at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis May 14 and 15 at 9 p.m. Tickets are: $14.95, $19.95 and $24.95 and are available at the Casino Magic Box Office, by calling 1-800-5-MAGIC-5 and through any Ticketmaster outlet.

The Golden Boys were three of the most popular teen idols and the late 50's and early 60's and have met with overwhelming concert success while touring together off and on again since 1985.

Frankie Avalon, 63, began his show biz career by playing the trumpet and wowing the audience at various Philadelphia talent shows.

By the age of 12, he was a member of a local dance band which featured another future teen idol on drums -- Bobby Rydell. In 1957, the rise of "American Bandstand" inspired Avalon to try a solo singing career. He made waves with the hits, "Venus," "Bobby Sox to Stockings," and "De De Dinah."

In the '60s Avalon turned to acting starring in several films with Annette Funicello that were inspired by the nationwide surfing craze -- "Beach Party," "Muscle Beach," "Beach Blanket Bingo," and many more. Perhaps his most memorable role came in 1978's "Grease" in which he played a teen angel and sang "Beauty School Dropout."

Another Philadelphia native, Fabian Forte, 61, was discovered sitting on his front steps at the age of 14. By the time he was 18 he had recorded dozens of hit singles including: "Turn Me Loose," "Tiger" and "I'm the Man."

In 1959, he made his screen debut and has since had featured roles with John Wayne, James Stewart, Jack Palance, and George Segal. Never a disappointment to his fans, Fabian is still as good looking, charming and hard working as ever.

Bobby Rydell, 62, grew up in the same south Philly neighborhood as Avalon and Fabian. He began his career playing the drums at the age of five and was working night clubs by age seven.

As a teenager he played with Frankie Avalon in a local dance band and went solo after seeing Avalon's success. Rydell's hits include: "Volare," "Wild One," and "Kissin' Time."

In 1963, he appeared in the screen version of the hit Broadway musical "Bye, Bye, Birdie" opposite Ann Margaret.

Today the trio find their most success in their family lives and through touring together. Baby Boomers still flock to their concerts in droves screaming, "Frankie you're the best!" and "I love you Fabian!" Must be 21 to attend.

We hope you enjoy this edition of our annual Spring Home & Garden section.

We've included local stories and items which we hope you'll find useful as well as informational, from some very diverse sources, including Mississippi State University Extension Center, the Mississippi Emergency Management Agency, the Federal Emergency Management Agency, as well as local home and garden centers.

Inside, you'll find:

- Detailed instructions on what to do if your home is damaged by flooding this season.
- Ways to save money on your mortgage whether you're buying for the first time or refinancing.

- A listing of the Diamondhead homes included in the 57th annual Mississippi Gulf Coast Pilgrimage.

- An inside look at five private gardens in Clermont Harbor.

- Easy and inexpensive backyard projects.

- And of course, plenty of gardening tips, from growing a healthy lawn to creating an entire new landscape in your yard.

If you want to tell us what you think about the section, what you liked or disliked, please feel free to contact me by e-mail at: gbelcher@seacoastecho.com.

Diamondhead featured in Spring Pilgrimage

THE SEA COAST ECHO
Mississippi Gulf Coast 57th Annual Pilgrimage began on Friday and continues through April 3rd. This year's theme is "The Food, Faces, Places and Events that Make Southern Comfort." The Pilgrimage is a tour of grand and historic homes, gardens, museums, and historical landmarks. All tours are complimentary and presented by the Mississippi Gulf Coast Council of Garden Clubs, Inc.

Each year noteworthy homes and gardens along the historic Mississippi Gulf Coast are opened to the public in a display of the graciousness of southern living.

On opening day, the Pilgrimage began in historic Biloxi. The pilgrimage tour began with the Genzer Home, featuring flower displays in each room and La Belle Maison Bed & Breakfast Inn, Circa 1897, designed and furnished with family antiques - then the pilgrimage tour meandered up and down the scenic Gulf Coast Area.

Each day of the Pilgrimage, a local garden club will host the annual tour by featuring one or more beautiful homes and/or gardens in their city or area.

New This Year: Tuesday, March 30th A Southern Tea and Fashion Show will be at the Gulf Hills Hotel, Ocean Springs, MS. There will be two sittings for the tea, the first will be at 11 a.m. and the second at 3 p.m. with a world-famous fashion show composed of one-of-a-kind dresses made by international designers at both teas.

Advance reservations and a $30 donation are required for the Southern Tea and Fashion Show. For tea reservations, contact Deborah Seidel at 228-875-7981. Space will be limited.

ing, demonstrating, and selling their arts and crafts at the Gulf Hills Hotel on Tuesday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Southern ladies in antebellum gowns will greet and visit with guests. After the Southern Tea and Fashion Show, the models will be parading throughout the hotel. Refreshments will be served. Everyone is invited and encouraged to visit the marketplace.

The Ending Ceremonies on April 3rd will be performed at the Old Brick House in Biloxi with jazz music and Second Liners (dancers) entertaining the guests. The winning raffle ticket will be drawn for three Stig Marcussen Prints (need not be present to win). Please call Charlotte Rhett at 228-388-5726 for raffle tickets before the Pilgrimage begins or purchase the day of the event. Refreshments will be served.

How to save money and still stay cool this summer

THE SEA COAST ECHO

We've all been looking forward to the beautiful spring weather we've been experiencing, but now some of us are really starting to dread the thoughts of another long, hot Mississippi summer.

Both winter and summer energy costs have stabilized after some of the highest utility costs on record in recent years. No one can predict energy costs, however, so it's important to take steps to reduce expenses where possible.

To help homeowners and others with energy conservation, the Mississippi State University Extension Service has developed information on ways consumers may reduce energy costs.

Although energy costs currently are lower than those of just a few years ago, conserving energy and lowering costs remain important concerns. And while energy costs affect all Mississippians, they are of particular concern to farmers, homeowners, and small businesses.

To address these needs, the Mississippi State University Extension Service has developed information on ways farmers and homeowners can reduce energy costs. Even with stabilized costs, it is important that consumers take steps to conserve energy.

What Can I Expect With Energy Costs?

Record high temperatures such as those encountered in 2000 have a dramatic effect on energy use and costs. Fortunately, such temperature extremes do not happen often. While these extremes aren't predicted for the foreseeable future, the prospects of high energy bills are a concern for many citizens.

Since we can't control the weather itself, the important thing is to make sure that homes, businesses and farms are as energy efficient as possible. This means taking conservation steps before extreme temperatures - winter or summer - arrive in earnest.

What Can Homeowners Do To Reduce Summer Energy Costs?

Many energy conservation principles apply in summer as well as winter. For example:

* Caulking and weatherstripping around doors and windows saves in both hot and cold weather.

* Raising the thermostat also significantly lowers the cooling bill. A good starting point is 78°. Every degree the thermostat is set below 78° adds about 7 percent to the cooling bill. At 72°, the cost is about 42 percent higher than at 78°. If higher thermostat settings are uncomfortable, you can make your living area feel several degrees cooler by using a fan to circulate conditioned air.

* Don't overlook the value of landscaping in summer energy savings. About 60 percent of the heat entering a home in the summer is through the roof. Provide shade to the roof, walls and driveways to reduce heat absorption and save energy and money.

* Take advantage of windows in the spring for fresh air and natural ventilation. In the summer, keep the drapes drawn to reduce radiant heat from the sun. Ventilation is especially important to reduce summer energy costs. Make sure attics are properly ventilated.

* Change air conditioner filters regularly. Insulate air conditioner ducts that are exposed in the attic or in other areas.

* If you buy new appliances, look for energy saving features. Check the energy guide on appliances for energy consumption.

* If you're building a new home or adding to an existing structure, match the equipment to the heating and cooling load as nearly as possible. Oversized equipment wastes energy. But keep in mind that while a window cooling unit works well for a small area, a central unit may be more economical for larger areas in the long run.

Safety is always a factor with electric equipment. Don't take chances with faulty connections, make potentially dangerous repairs, or cut corners that put your safety at risk. If in doubt, contact an electrical contractor for help.

For more information on energy conservation, call or visit your county Extension office. The Hancock County Extension office can be contacted at:

15 years vs. 30: Save $$$ on your mortgage

THE SEA COAST ECHO

With interest rates remaining low, real estate rates on the Mississippi Gulf Coast at an all-time high and a seemingly endless amount of companies out there urging you to "cash out" the equity in your home, it's tempting to consider refinancing your mortgage.

What do I need to consider before I refinance my mortgage?

The best time to refinance depends on the interest rate difference between your existing mortgage and the new mortgage, closing fees for refinancing, the length of time you plan to stay in your home, your tax bracket, your lender and the local housing market. You may be a candidate for refinancing if you are paying at least 2 percentage points above the present interest rate. Since there are settlement or closing costs for refinancing, you must consider the 2-percentage point spread as a minimum. A 2-percentage point spread enables you to recover the closing costs through savings and interest payments within 2 to 3 years normally. If you plan to live in the house longer, you may consider refinancing with a difference smaller than two percent. If on the other hand, you have to pay mortgage "prepayment penalties" you may decide to wait for a larger than 2-percentage point spread.

Will I save money with a 15-year mortgage vs. a 30-year note?

The best way to answer that question is give an example. Let's suppose you have a mortgage for $60,000 dollars at 8.5% interest.

A 30-year mortgage will cost you $461.35 per month. If you multiply that times the 360 months which is the number of months in 30 years, you will pay payments totaling $166,086.00

A 15-year mortgage will cost you $590.84 per month. If you multiply that times the 180 months which is the number of months in 15 years, you will pay payments totaling $106,351.20.

The difference between the 15-year mortgage and the 30-year mortgage is $59,733.80. You must consider whether your budget can handle the additional amount each month and not impact other expenses that you will have your home.

April showers can bring May disaster ...

How to reclaim your home and protect your family after a flood

THE SEA COAST ECHO

April showers may bring May flowers in most of the U.S., but on the Mississippi Gulf Coast, they can often bring more than that.

Each year Mississippi citizens lose valuable resources including life and property due to disasters. Disasters can strike at anytime and anywhere. Generally, Mississippi's weather-related emergencies are in the form of floods, thunderstorms, tornadoes, windstorms, lightning and hurricanes, all of which have the potential for property loss, injury and death.

In cooperation with the Mississippi Emergency Management Agency, and Federal Emergency Management Agency

It's important to be prepared for inclement weather on the Mississippi Gulf Coast - it doesn't always do what you expect. Tropical Storm Bill, for instance, caused the flooding shown above - wreaking more havoc than Isidore did, in some areas - even though it was considered a relatively mild storm.

through USDA, the Mississippi State University

Extension Service has provided relevant research-based information that will better aid Mississippians during emergencies and disasters.

Is it safe to turn on appliances?

Do not turn on any household appliance or equipment until you know it is clean, dry, and that rotating parts turn freely. Examine motors of pumps, refrigerators, freezers, washing machines, etc. Thoroughly clean washing machines before using. Clean shaft and gears with gasoline. Wipe with a clean cloth. Oil bearings before using the appliance.

How do I dry the walls of my house after flooding?

Open the wall to the level of flooding. Use a circular saw to cut sheetrock walls in a straight line, being careful not to cut into electrical wiring. If walls are paneled, remove the baseboard and pry loose the paneling. Prop paneling away from the wall, remove the insulation, and let it dry. After removing wet insulation, wash walls with disinfectant. Spray wall cavities with one cup household bleach to a gallon of water. Allow walls to stay open 4 to 6 weeks to allow thorough drying before putting in new insulation and covering.

How do I clean my dishes and utensils?

Sterilize before using. Wash in hot sudsy water. Soak plastic, glass, porcelain, and enamelware 10 minutes in a solution of one tablespoon liquid chlorine bleach to a gallon of hot water. Rinse well.

Do not use chlorine bleach on silverware, metal dishes, or chipped enamel. Instead, scrub and scour with hot sudsy water and scouring pad. Fill metal and boil-safe utensils with water or place them in water. Bring to or near a boil for 5 minutes.

Remove rust from cooking utensils with steel wool. After scouring and sterilizing, rub items with cooking oil. Heat at a low temperature in oven for about 30 minutes.

How do I clean my rugs and carpets?

Often carpets and rugs are discarded after being soaked, but some can be saved. They may be best cleaned by professionals. If you do the work yourself, take the carpet and pad outside if possible, draping it over clotheslines, sawhorses, automobiles, or on concrete driveways. Flush soil and silt out with a water hose and spray nozzle. Add detergent if soiled. Work detergent into carpet with a broom or brush. Rinse with a solution of one gallon of water and 2 tablespoons of household bleach. Dry completely before reinstalling.

My wood furniture was soaked. Is it ruined?

If possible, remove drawers and doors from wood furniture. If they are stuck tight, remove the back and try pushing them out. If the backing board warps and Wash loose soil from the furniture, using sudsy water and a brush.

Rinse with clear water and dry with a cloth. Let furniture and cabinets dry slowly (out of sunlight) to reduce warping and splitting. It may take several weeks or months for them to dry. Use fans, heaters, or dehumidifiers to keep air moving. After furniture has dried completely, clean the surface with mineral spirits, synthetic turpentine, or a cleanser conditioner. Test first on a spot that doesn't show.

My mattress is damp. Can I save it?

Usually mattresses are discarded, but if the outside is only slightly damp, brush off surface soil and wipe with a clean cloth dipped in diluted alcohol (one cup denatured or rubbing alcohol to one cup water) to discourage mildew.

Are dishes and utensils safe?

Use the same procedure as for canned food: wash in hot, soapy water, rinse in chlorine solution, rinse in clear water, air dry.

Floodwater in refrigerators/freezers...

No. Throw away all contents not sealed in metal cans.

Precautions when going home after a storm...

* Do not enter your house unless you are sure it is safe and not about to fall down. Air out the house for several minutes to let foul odors and gas escape. Turn off the gas at the meter or tank. Use flashlights only. NEVER MATCHES OR OTHER OPEN FLAME.

* Turn off electricity at the main switch and other circuits.

* Wet plaster is dangerous. Break down loose plaster hanging from the ceiling before moving around inside the house.

The destructive power of tropical storms even ripped huge sections out of the Garfield Ladner Pier in Waveland in 2002.

Watch for nails, splinters, holes, crumbling foundations, and gas leaks.

Bold gardeners create daring landscape look

SOUTHERN GARDENING

BY NORMAN WINTER
MSU Horticulturist
Central Mississippi
Research & Extension Center

There is a new, bold gardener out there stirring up excitement. What I like about the bold gardener's style is that it uses plant selections or combinations in atypical ways. The result is that we're pushed outside our comfort zone -- we are challenged.

One instance of this bold style involves plants thought of as only for the southwest or perhaps Mexico. These plants typically have sword-like leaves and even prickles.

One of the most beautiful is the blue agave. This plant, usually listed as a Deep South plant, is being seen from the Coast to the Delta and back eastward across the state and performs quite well in Mississippi.

Plant the blue agave in the warmest microclimate of the landscape, usually the south or east side of the home. One common characteristic of any successful location is very good drainage.

One breathtaking Coast planting featured three blue agave plants in front of a scenic waterfall. In the Delta, the huge blue leaves were paired with the fiery red and orange of an equally drought-tolerant lantana.

Another choice plant is the yucca. This one is really gaining in popularity and is actually being grown and produced in the Carolinas. The most popular selections feature a gold and green variegated stripe.

At the Truck Crops Branch Experiment Station in Crystal Springs, we're growing a yucca called Gold Garland that we got from Cairo, Ga. We may have stretched its comfort zone a little because we used ours as understory plantings to large, tropical bananas. While it is unusual to combine a desert plant with a tropical one, these have partnered well and complement one another in the garden.

Even more unusual but very impressive was a group in the Delta that had red spider lilies popping up through the dagger-like yucca leaves. Folks at the Gulf Coast Garden and Patio Show oohed and ahed over photos of this one.

Yuccas are much more cold-hardy than agaves and can be grown easily over the entire state provided you meet that same requirement: good drainage.

Another bold plant is called New Zealand flax, botanically known as a Phormium. Bodger Botanicals out of California introduced the Lancer series to the gardening world, and just about everyone wants one.

The plant was a virtual unknown to most gardeners in the South until the Lancer series made its debut. As the learning curve was developing, many suggested it would not survive the winters, but reports from Texas say it will remain green with temperatures in the mid-teens and root-hard to the single digits. The reddish flowers have lots of nectar for hummingbirds, and it is drought-resistant once established.

The most sought-after have dark burgundy and gold variegation. So far it seems the most popular use is as a center plant in a large, mixed container.

Give your lawn a 30-minute makeover

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Well-dressed folks have known the secret for years: A new set of clothes can help put a spring in your step and a smile on your face.

Your lawn can benefit from a little dressing up now and then, as well. A quick, easy and inexpensive process called "top-dressing" can help reduce disease, thatch and the amount of water, fertilizer and pesticides your lawn requires.

According to gardening expert Gerry Hood, top-dressing can give you a fashionable lawn without paying designer prices. "It's like buying a brand new outfit for your yard," he says.

Hood says to top-dress your yard, simply spread a 1/4- to 1/2-inch layer of Canadian sphagnum peat moss over the entire lawn with a leaf rake once every year or two, anytime from early spring to late fall. Peat moss helps condition the soil so that in dry weather, the lawn holds moisture better. If your lawn is sparse, mix in seed with the peat moss when you're top-dressing, and spread it with a rake. Depending on the size of your lawn, the whole process will probably take just a half-hour or so, but the benefits will last throughout the year.

FOR THE BEST RESULTS, spread a 1/4-inch layer of peat moss over the lawn once every year or two.

The peat moss (available in 3.8 cubic-foot bales at home and garden centers) will gradually condition the soil and save water by absorbing and holding moisture.

The lawn will also require less fertilizer because peat moss reduces leaching of nutrients and releases them slowly over time.

To get the maximum benefits from top-dressing, yard-care experts recommend aerating your lawn first. Aeration removes plugs of soil from the lawn, loosening compacted areas and promoting deeper grass root growth. You can rent a power aerator or hire a local lawn-care specialist to aerate for you.

Much like a person's immune system, a healthy lawn also helps keep away pests, reducing the need for pesticides. "Healthy soil is the first step toward a healthy lawn," Hood says. "And top-dressing with peat moss is a simple way to begin."

In just 30 minutes, your lawn will be well on its way to becoming healthier and heartier — and your neighbors will be green with envy.

over your yard's new look.

Canadian peat moss is a sustainable resource. Only one acre in every 6,000 is harvested and when harvesting stops, the bogs are restored to functioning peatlands. For more information on peat and the environment, visit the Canadian Sphagnum Peat Moss Association's Web site at www.peatmoss.com.

For more information on how to properly condition and prepare your lawn, or other ways to use peat moss, send an unstamped, self-addressed business-sized envelope to Peat Moss, Box 385102, Minneapolis, MN, 55438, or e-mail them at cspma@peatmoss.com.

Keep kids safe in your yard this summer

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Each spring, homeowners everywhere start their lawn mowers, tractors and hedge trimmers to keep their green spaces looking great. What's not great, though, is that some people use old, unsafe operating habits that might cause an accident involving children.

"Most of these injuries can be prevented if young children are properly supervised or simply kept out of the work area," said Heather Paul, executive director of the National SAFE KIDS Campaign. "Parents must not allow children to play in an area where someone is operating a lawn mower or riding mower or any outdoor power equipment."

To keep your yard beautiful and safe, follow these safety tips:

- Keep children away from the work area. Period. Kids should remain inside while any type of walk behind, riding or hand-held outdoor power equipment is used.

- Riding mowers are designed for just that: mowing while riding. Riding mowers have many safety features for the operator but are not built for passengers or for towing children behind mowers in carts or trailers.

- Children should not be permitted to play on or around the mower when it is in use or in storage. Stop machine if anyone enters the area.

- Turn off the mower if children do enter the work

EASY GARDENER'S new Water Garden & Pond Netting is making a splash with water gardeners.

Water gardens can make a real splash in your yard

THE SEA COAST ECHO

This spring, do something different with your landscape — create a water garden.

A water garden is a pool of water that contains plants and possibly fish and other creatures. You don't need a pond or an enormous backyard to create an aquatic garden. You can make a water garden anywhere — even in a wide, shallow container.

Many people are intimidated by the thought of water gardening; they think it's difficult to create and maintain an aquatic garden. That's not true. Water gardening is like any other type of gardening. It just requires a little planning.

Before you build your aquatic garden, do some research. More than seven million people participate in water gardening, so there are numerous books, magazines and Web sites available for help. In addition to reading, about what has worked for them.

Once you've determined what type of water garden you'd like and where you'd like it (sunny areas are best), the next thing you need to do is think about maintenance. To ensure that your aquatic plants stay healthy, you'll want to feed them properly.

To keep maintenance minimal, use a good fertilizer to help your aquatic plants grow and develop. The pros recommend you use a slow release fertilizer, as they are the most convenient and can be easily applied. Jobe's® Fertilizer Spikes for Aquatic Plants will suit your needs. Just push them into the soil and you'll be set. Your plants will receive the nutrients they need without promoting algae growth. In addition, Jobe's Spikes are safe to use if you have fish in your garden because they're compatible with Koi and other varieties of fish and wildlife.

Another way to maintain it from debris. The new Easy Gardener Water Garden and Pond Netting is perfect for this. The protective outdoor cover will prevent leaves and other debris from getting into your aquatic garden and harming your pond or damaging pumps. Plus, it protects fish from predators.

The netting is lightweight. The small apertures leave enough room for air circulation. The netting is also easy to install and comes with 10 free stakes to help fasten it to the ground. The 14-foot-by-14-foot netting sheets can be cut with scissors for a customized fit.

Jobe's Fertilizer Spikes for Aquatic Plants and Easy Gardener Water Garden & Pond Netting can be found at your favorite garden center or retail chain. You can also call (800) EASY-INC to purchase them.

Make this the year you create an aquatic garden. It will make a big splash in your yard.

Turf Wars: Strike a fair compromise with your pet

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Sure you love your beloved dog Buddy and cat Muffy. You want your pets to be able to run, jump and play freely about the yard. But you don't want them ruining your lawn when they "do their business." It is possible for both of you to cohabitate freely and enjoy your yard in the process. Here are some tips, courtesy of Home and Garden Television and the Purdue University Veterinary Teaching Hospital Wellness Clinic.

relieve themselves indoors, and often must settle on restricted areas to take care of business. Lawn-lovers do not want to forgo their attractive lawn for one with brown spots. However, there are ways to make do.

To remedy the problem, it helps if you understand why brown, burnt spots happen. The fundamental problem with the presence of urine or feces on a lawn relates to the nitrogen content and concentration of these waste products. Dogs and cats are both carnivores, and there is an abundance of nitrogen that must be removed from the animals' bodies because of their high-protein diet. Unfortunately, nitrogen can damage even the most tolerant lawns. Urine poses the greatest threat because its nitrogen is so concentrated. Female dogs or males who "squat" are often the culprits of the most damage because the urine pools in one general area. To alleviate the situation, frequently dissipate dog urine by hosing down the problem areas. Also, promptly pick up solid waste so nitrogen will not seep into the ground.

IT IS POSSIBLE for both you and your pet to enjoy your lawn.

CATS

One of the best ways to deter cats from using your yard as a litter box is to make it uncomfortable anywhere you don't want them. Conversely, make it as comfortable as possible where you would like them to litter. For example, cover cat-prone backyard areas with pine cones, sweetgum balls, chestnut husks, rosebush or bramble clippings or other material. Cats also like to dig and kick away soil to create the perfect spot. Deter this by spacing plants closely. If plants aren't mature yet, lay chicken wire on top of them — a sensation your cat will not like underfoot.

If your cat spends time indoors and outdoors, but is relegated to using an indoor litter box, make that litter box continually inviting. Keep the box clean and free of waste at all times so your finicky cats won't decide to look for new places to relieve themselves ... namely on your favorite plants.

You can also create a cat haven in your yard by planting them their own garden. It can include plants like catmint, cat thyme and catnip. Remember, however, that not all cats will be attracted to such plants.

Dogs are often caught between a rock and a hard place. They are not allowed to

Garden treasures bring Clermont families pleasure

BY BENNIE
SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

Spring is in the air, flowers are beginning to bloom and trees are beginning to bud. For many area residents, this is a favorite time of year to get out and work in the garden or to create a small restful space outdoors to just sit and relax. Whatever their style or their space, Clermont Harbor residents are no different in their love of outdoor spaces. Even though some flowers were not yet in bloom, five neighborhood families agreed to share a little of their favorite outdoor spaces with us last week. The styles range from neat as a pin to wild and wonderful...

Stan and Lynn Bigelow have lived in Clermont Harbor about three years full time. They have added about 500 sq. ft. to their home and done extensive work inside.

Now they are ready to concentrate on yard work, Lynn says.

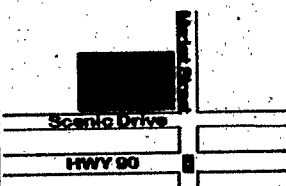

The couple loves to shop antique stores and flea markets everywhere their travels take them, and have treasures from as far away as Scotland. Now that the indoors is full of treasures, Lynn says, the yard will become the next home for the couple's passion of collecting. The highlight of the yard so far is an antique dolphin light post found at a store in Ponchatoula, LA., but who knows what the Bigelows will find next.

Charles and Betty Boudreaux have lived in their two-story Clermont Harbor home for only about a year. The creation of an outdoor space is just getting under way for the Boudreauxs, but their neat as a pin style has already won them the Clean and Dawn and Craig Vosbein bought their small camp in October of 1995 and have since added on several rooms including a detached hot tub room out back.

The yard features paths and walkways to small intimate spaces filled with plants and flowers and yard art. Very little grass is seen and the Vosbein's planned it that way to save on maintenance and watering. They love the area, says Craig, because it is a great, hassle free place to live. Both contribute to the gardening, though Dawn does a most of the planning, Craig said.

Tight quarters call for container gardening

THE SEA COAST ECHO
Spring is in the air and as a gardener, you can't wait to get out there and plant. What do you do if you don't have a yard? The answer is easy — container gardening.

With container gardening, you're bound only by your imagination. It's great for apartment dwellers, gardeners with small yards or gardeners who are currently renting a home. It's also ideal for people who want to experiment with different flowers and plants.

Another plus to container gardening is its versatility. If you don't like where you've put your "garden," just pick it up and move it. Potted plants look great in groups so try arranging them in a variety of ways and again, if you don't like the arrangement, change it.

To start, find some unique containers. Be creative — look beyond the basic flowerpot. Wooden barrels, old wheelbarrows or interesting antiques can house a garden. Don't forget about window boxes and hanging baskets. Be sure your containers have drainage holes in the bottom. If they don't, drill a few. Next, fill your container with a quality sterile potting soil within an inch of the rim. Now it is time to add your plants.

One of the greatest joys of container gardening is that you can try different plants and flowers without a lot of cost. Are there some bulbs or perennials you've always wanted to plant, but weren't too sure they'd do well where you live? With container gardening, you can purchase a couple at a time and give them a try.

Place your newly planted containers in a location that provides proper lighting for your plants and don't forget to water them. This is where most mistakes are made in plant care — too much or too little water brings disaster. You should water plants when soil feels dry below the surface.

To keep containerized plants healthy, always fertilize them. Jobe's® Fertilizer Spikes are reliable because they feed the plants at the root, where they need it most. Gardeners have used these spikes for years because they consistently produce healthy and vigorous plants. Jobe's slow release formula provides the right amount of fertilizer without washing through when watering. Once they're inserted, your plants will be set for months.

Jobe's Spikes are easy to use. Push them into the soil and then water immediately after application. You don't have to worry about a mess, like you do when you use spray or granule fertilizers. The spikes come in a variety of formulas, several of which are perfect for containerized gardens, like Jobe's Spikes for Potted Plants, and Hanging Baskets, Jobe's Spikes for Bulbs and Perennials, Jobe's Spikes for Houseplants, and Jobe's Spikes for Flowering Plants.

If you love plants and flowers but find your time and space limited, try a container garden. The possibilities are as endless as your imagination.

BRING BEAUTIFUL gardens to small spaces with container gardening.

Seven habits of highly effective gardeners

THE SEA COAST ECHO

You can grow healthier lawns and beautiful flowers by following these seven habits of successful gardeners. They will lead you down the garden path toward less maintenance and more time to enjoy a healthier, more beautiful landscape and garden.

1. Amend soil annually. Add 2 inches of Canadian sphagnum peat moss or a peat moss/compost blend, and work it into the top 6 to 8 inches of soil. Use peat moss to amend the soil when planting trees or gardens, adding a lawn or transplanting shrubs. The better your soil, the healthier your plants and the easier it will be to garden.

2. Water regularly and feed when necessary. Feel the soil to decide when your plants need more water. Fertilize when your plants need it — not just when you get around to it. Too much fertilizer causes as much harm as too little, resulting in a scorched or burned look to the foliage, or fast, rank growth more susceptible to insects and disease. Read and follow label instructions.

3. Mulch is a must. Mother Nature never intended soil to plants. Choose varieties that offer more than one season of interest: spring flowering trees with interesting bark in the winter, or blooming shrubs with the added bonus of winter berries or autumn foliage color.

5. Compost. Nothing else does so much for so little. By layering green material (a source of nitrogen), such as grass clippings, weeds and pruning crumbs with brown material (a source of carbon), such as fallen leaves, peat moss or soil, you can create a rich, black compost. This mixture is perfect as an additive to poor soil or as a feeding mulch.

6. Walk your garden frequently. This will encourage you to deadhead, pick weeds, and appreciate the small details and tiny miracles that make gardening so satisfying.

7. Garden and learn. Avoid costly mistakes by reading, talking to other gardeners and sharing information. The education of a gardener can be just as enjoyable as the hobby itself. After all, they're both about growing.

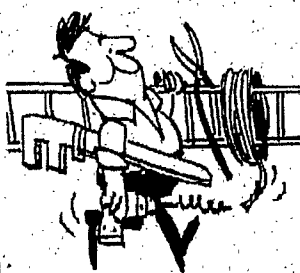

Canadian peat moss is a sustainable resource. Only one acre in every 6,000 is harvested and when harvesting stops, the bogs are restored to functioning peatlands. For more information on peat and the environment, visit the Canadian Sphagnum Peat Moss Association's Web site at www.peatmoss.com.

For free brochures on how to use peat moss, send a self-addressed, unstamped, business-size envelope to Peat Moss, Box 385102, Minneapolis, MN 55438, or e-mail them at csmpa@peatmoss.com.

DIG 2 inches of peat moss into the top 6 inches of soil for the best results.

be naked. A mulch is like frosting on a cake — you could do without, but why would you want to? A few inches of an organic mulch will conserve moisture, block weeds, equalize soil temperature and slowly feed the plants.

4. Be picky about your

'Season' your garden design with herbs

THE SEA COAST ECHO

With trusty shopping list in hand, you head out to the local gardening center enthused about the prospect of starting your seasonal plantings. Amongst the rows of flowering perennials and annuals you will find a series of plants — herbs — far less flamboyant in foliage. However, what herbs lack in visual impact, they certainly make up for in their aroma, and later, flavor in your cooking.

Many gardening enthusiasts would like to add an herb garden to their current landscaping design, but do not know where to begin. Remember — planting herbs requires as much planning and soil preparation as those beds of daffodils and tulips lining your front entrance.

According to avid gardener Ann McCormick (www.ann-mccormick.com) following are the steps you should take on the way to a healthy herb garden.

SPOT YOUR PLOT

While not all backyards contain the ideal conditions, look for as many of the following as possible:

- Soil containing equal parts of sand, loam, and clay, which also has good drainage.

- Ground with a pH that is neutral or slightly alkaline. (Check your garden center for a common pH testing kit.)

- At least four hours of direct sun.

- A weed- and stone-free spot.

SOIL COMPOSITION

To better access the soil, get a bit dirty. Take a portion of it in your hand and squeeze. If it crumbles when you release, you probably have a good soil ratio. However, if it retains its shape, you probably have a high clay content. In most cases, you cannot go wrong mixing in a bit of organic matter.

GARDEN GEOGRAPHY

Take a moment to note the Fresh herbs can dress up both your garden and your dinner table.

overall layout and drainage of your proposed herb garden. Ask a couple of questions: When it rains, where does the water go? Where does it puddle? What spots seem to dry out quickly? If your plot is in an area with poor drainage, a self-made "dam" of pebbles or decorative stones can alleviate the problem. Additionally, you may need to consider a raised bed to avoid rotting roots down the line.

LET THE SUN SHINE

Herbs generally need four to six hours of direct sunlight for maximum growth potential. Keep direct sunlight in mind when plotting out your herb garden.

Where possible, try to protect your herbs from direct weather and wind. Consider a simple picket fence or taller row of plants to shelter your herbs from the elements.

ELIMINATE OTHER OBSTACLES

Also take into consideration other possible obstacles that can foil your herb garden plans. Make sure surrounding trees and shrubbery are pruned to allow optimal sunlight exposure to your herb garden.

deter animals from using your herbs as their toilet area and to keep insect life at bay. Also encourage family members to be careful around the herb garden to prevent trampling of the plants.

PLANT CONSIDERATIONS

Now that you have mapped out your ideal garden spot, it is time to think about what herbs you would like to include in the garden. While there are many themes you can follow, select herbs that you find appealing both in scent and in taste.

A few general planting tips to keep in mind include:

- Annuals require more maintenance than perennials, therefore plant them where they can be easily reached. However, taller annuals like dill, lovage and angelica may need to be planted in the back so they don't tower over other smaller herbs.

- Don't plant tall plants in front of short plants, which can inhibit proper sun exposure.

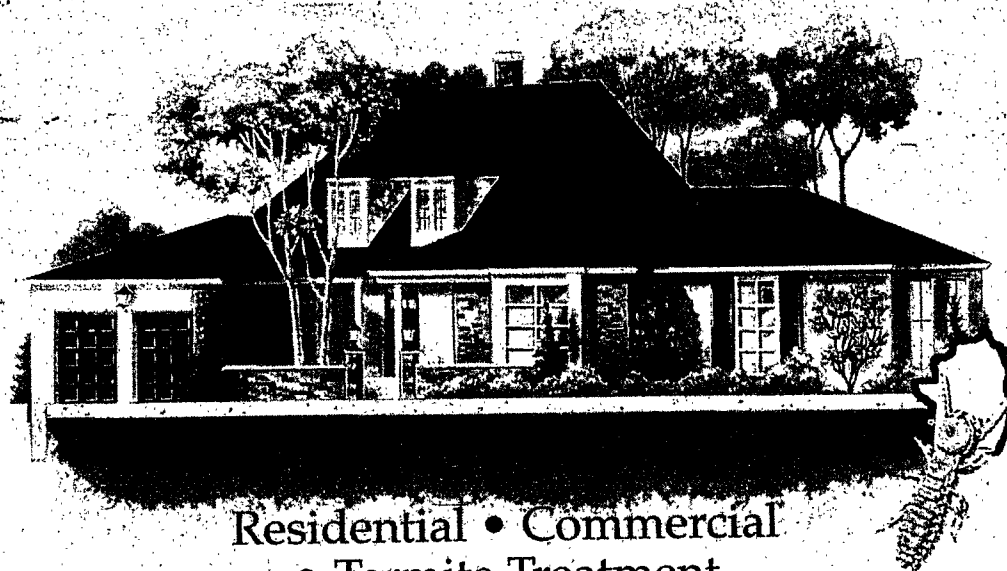

- Consider colors and textures when planting. While herb flowers are individually inconspicuous, in mass plantings they can be very pleasing.

For more information on herb gardens, consult with the experts at your local garden center.

It's easy to grow roses at home

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Roses are not the mysterious plants they're rumored to be. Rose culture is actually very easy. Because roses grow and bloom for the entire growing season, they just need a little more than other perennial plants do. A little more water, a little more fertilizer, and a little more effort to keep pests and diseases at bay.

Today's rose hybridizers are breeding for disease resistance as well as for the other attributes consumers demand — lots of flowers, fragrance, and, in cold climates, winter hardiness. In fact, many of the newer varieties of everblooming roses available today are very disease resistant. Extreme weather, however, such as days on end of cool temperatures and lots of rain, test rose disease resistance to the maximum. It's just a fact.

If you do end up having to spray your roses for insects, mites, or diseases such as blackspot and powdery mildew, the new spray materials available these days are exceedingly safe to use. Plus, the tiny dosages required make these materials inexpensive as well as effective.

Growing roses in 2004 is a lot easier, more fun, and much more satisfying than it was just a few years ago. And there's lots of help around, just for the asking.

Primary Products is a mailorder provider of rose culture tools, fertilizers, spray materials and other stuff that makes growing roses easy. Visit their Web site at www.primaryproducts.com, or call (800) 841-6630 for a FREE color catalog. If you need help growing roses, rose culture expert Ann Hooper will answer them if you e-mail her at ann@primaryproducts.com. ## FRAGRANT NEW RED ROSE HONORS FIREFIGHTERS

"Firefighter" is a new, fragrant red hybrid tea rose named in memory of the 343 firefighters who lost their lives on September 11, and to honor all those men and women who risk their lives every day. It's a rose plant that every gardener will want to grow.

With a strong, sweet rose fragrance, "Firefighter" blooms are huge, with lots of dark red, substantive petals that stand up to mid-summer's heat. The flowers grow on long, straight cutting stems, and they last and last, whether in a vase or in the garden.

The plant grows strongly, with sturdy canes to support the large blooms. The foliage is reddish matte green and sets off each flower to its glorious best. Best of all, the foliage is tough and disease resistant, which is unusual in a red hybrid tea.

Easy to care for, magnificent red blooms on a disease-resistant plant, and fabulous fragrance to boot. What better a rose to honor our nation's firefighters?

Fifteen percent of the price of each plant sold will be donated to support the "Remember Me Rose Gardens" in New York, Washington, and Somerset County, Pennsylvania.

For Firefighter and many other varieties of roses, you should consult your favorite local garden center.

THE SEA COAST ECHO

You don't need to hire a designer, landscape architect or contractor to add a beautiful room with a view to your outdoor lifestyle. Use your own imagination to turn your pool cabana into something memorable and attractive that reflects your tastes and personality.

- Design your pool cabana to suit your lifestyle — mix a drink, take a shower, change your clothes or store your pool stuff; it's all possible with endless design options.

- To dress up your pool cabana, consider adding a dormer, window boxes or architectural windows.

- Self-expression doesn't need to be expensive. Outdoor lights, arbors, wind chimes and stone walkways can go a long way to creating the outdoor sanctuary of your dreams.

- Roofs add character. Cedar shingles, for example, are truly beautiful and will last a lifetime.

- Instead of buying a standard plywood floor for your structure, consider tongue and groove pine floorboards to make it a more attractive

DAFFODILS ADD SUNSHINE TO ANY GARDEN

There are few who can deny the beauty of daffodils, whether they be atop mountains or in a bouquet. When you want to add some of their beauty to your own backyard, do it wisely, says the National Gardening Association. Buy bulbs from a reputable dealer. Write down the varieties of daffodils that you've purchased so you can buy more if need be. Also, avoid purchasing "mixtures," which can create a messy look of flowers at varying heights, shapes and blooming periods.

Leisure survival, the outside story

THE SEA COAST ECHO
For the leisure products you purchase to "dress" your backyard, survival in the outdoors is essential. You do not need to be located on a deserted island to be concerned with survival of the features and benefits of your outdoor furnishings and their ability to provide years of enjoyment. Crafted items that add that "tropical" feeling to your the sun. That's survival.

Additional Hammock Features — Survival also equates to lasting looks in the outdoors. The spreader bar in a hammock should be constructed of a hard wood such as solid oak for strength. "Triple hand dipping of marine varnish by the manufacturer will preserve the look and life," says Chuck Sineath, president, Nags Head Hammocks. No detail should be overlooked when it comes to long life. Grommets are used in the assembly of all fabric hammocks and swings. For long outdoor life, look for those constructed of brass. They offer lasting beauty and are non-rusting.

Hammock Stands — A hammock stand, which eliminates the need for conveniently placed trees, will survive years of use when it is constructed of durable materials. Three preferred materials are heavy duty or 12-gauge steel, stainless steel and cypress wood. The steel stand of this weight will provide sturdy and safe use. A durable finish is a must. The most durable for the outdoors is a powder coat finish. This finish bonds with the steel to encase the metal and eliminates the occurrence of rusting. A stainless steel stand is perfect for beach-side locales that need a product that can withstand even the trauma saltwater imposes. Although usually more expensive, stainless steel is worth it when survival from long exposure to the elements is required. Cypress wood hammock stands are naturally long lasting. Cypress wood, which is grown in hot and moist climates, carries those properties into leisure furniture. It is naturally able to well withstand the elements of the sun and rain and continue to provide years of use.

Create a Leisure Survival Spot — A key to surviving in hectic times is the creation of a place to relax and recharge. However, for this relaxation spot, weather resistance is the key to its survival. Look for features and finishes to make your quiet backyard spot a true survivor.

outdoor space require your attention to survival details when purchasing and using them. And, what better product to explore its ability to keep "hanging around" for years than your own piece of paradise, your hammock? Although created to provide comfort in a tradition that is over one hundred years old, modern technology is being used to provide longer outdoor life for even the hammock. Survival for the many features of a hammock can be related to other natural, handcrafted, outdoor furniture.

Hanging Hardware — Tree hooks, hanging chain, and hooks to attach the hammock to trees, posts, or purchased stands are what are considered the hammock's hanging hardware. "With every hammock, this is the point at which strength and long life is vital," says J.R. Pelletier, The HammockCompany.com. Look for a hammock that provides hanging hardware crafted of heavy-duty steel for strength, with a durable plated finish, such as a zinc plating, to prevent rusting in the elements.

Hammock Body — The most popular hammock available is the cotton rope hammock. Although this hammock provides superior comfort, technology today has been created to take it to a new level of weather resistance. Synthetic rope has been crafted that offers the softness of cotton while providing all the latest features for long life in the outdoors. This rope and fabric, marketed under the name of DuraCord®, was created to answer the search for a soft outdoor material that is colorfast. "This yarn also resists staining, mildew growth, and provides the user with a cool feeling as it draws moisture away from the body," says Laurie Rudd, creative director for The HammockSource. "The colorfast property is the same used in colorfast outdoor fabrics — solution dyeing." Solution dyeing in yarns occurs when the solution is dyed first before being made into yarn. As a result, bleach cannot harm the hammock ropes or fabric made from this yarn and the yarns have the ability to resist fading in Create beauty and wonder in your backyard by simply planting some flowers to attract butterflies.

Create a butterfly retreat in your yard

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Flowers and plants in your garden or window box may look lovely, but imagine the increased appeal if butterflies called your garden home. Making your garden inviting to these colorful, fluttering visitors involves just a little planning and selecting of butterfly-friendly foliage.

The basic needs of butterflies is relatively simple: food, water, sunlight and shelter. A butterfly garden is best planted in the sun so that the nectar-producing plants butterflies love will be able to flourish. The sun also regulates the temperature of a butterfly's body, enabling it to fly. However, shadier areas should be interspersed so that the butterflies don't overheat.

Nectar-Producing Plants — Nectar is the primary food for hungry butterflies. Plants like Aster, Butterfly Bush, Daisy, Honeysuckle, Lilac and Phlox are just some of many nectar-producing plants. Butterfly species in your local area may prefer specific plants, so a little research may be needed on your part.

Host Plants — Butterflies begin with caterpillars, and as such, the garden will also require host plants to nourish the growing larvae. Local 'weeds', thistle, nettle and tree leaves are popular food sources for the caterpillars. While not as pleasing to the eye, they are necessary to maintain a healthy species.

Water — Butterflies need water, but cannot directly "drink" from open water sources. They prefer landing on moist soil, so place a shallow dish full of moistened sand at ground level.

area, and store the ignition key away from a parked mower when not in use.

- Clear the mowing area of any objects such as twigs, stones and toys that could be picked up and thrown by lawn mower blades.

- Always look down and behind for children before, and while, backing up.

- Do not allow a child to operate a riding mower, or any type of outdoor power equipment. Only allow responsible adults who are familiar with the instructions to operate a riding mower.

If necessary, hire a babysitter for an hour or two while you're doing your yard-work.

Babysitters can be a cost effective way to help you prevent injuries.

When used properly, outdoor power equipment can help keep your yard looking its best throughout the year. For a free booklet about outdoor power equipment safety, contact the Outdoor Power Equipment Institute (OPEI) at 341 South Patrick Street, spacious home combines old world elegance with the comfort and convenience of a modern setting. Evelyn's decorating talent clearly enhances each room. From the secret hideaway for the grandchildren to the billiards room, there is definitely something for everyone. Evelyn describes her home as an eclectic blend of the old and the new. The DeStefano's collections and antiques are beautifully utilized throughout the home.

• Home of Ron & Judy Rech, 792 Ewa Court.

This two-year-old home was designed by Judy to take advantage of the golf course view. Large windows make the outdoors a significant part of the interior design. Wall niches and cabinets display a large Lladro collection. This home's Southwest influence reflects the Rechs' years spent in Arizona. In addition, you don't want to miss "Ron's House" off the breezeway.

• Home of Pat McLeod, 690 Apuwai Place.

One of the McLeods' goals in planning a retirement home was to blend functionality with ease of maintenance. Antiques combined with modern pieces create an interesting home further enhanced by glowing hardwood floors. The minimal adornment of the windows provides views of Pat's extensive garden from each room. The result is a gracious and inviting home.

• Garden of James & Eilene Broome, 68221 Diamondhead Drive East.

From the mature hardwoods to the understory of a large variety of flowering shrubs, perennials and ground cover, a tranquil shade garden has been created. A multi-tiered water feature adds a beautiful focal point in the backyard. Each

Special Garden District Home Tour honors Women's History

THE SEA COAST ECHO

The Coliseum Square Association proudly presents its 32nd Annual House Tour of the Lower Garden District in New Orleans today, March 28. The tour is celebrating National Women's History Month and is honoring "Women of the Lower Garden District - Their Homes, Their Life and Their Legacy." The association will be honoring women whose work left a lasting legacy in our city, state and nation. They are Sophie Bell Wright, Eleanor McMain, Grace King, Kate Chopin, Lillian Hellman, Dr. Sara Tew Mayo, Margaret Haughery and Beverly Bryant. Guided Tours begin at 11:00 a.m. from historic Coliseum Square, a beautiful urban park designed by prominent 19th century architect and surveyor, Bartheleme Lafon. Tours depart every fifteen minutes until 3:00 p.m.

Five wonderful, historic houses will open their doors exclusively for the tour including the homes of educator Sophie Bell Wright, 19th century writer Grace King and legendary playwright Lillian Hellman, which was named a National Literary Landmark by the Friends of Libraries USA in January 2002.

Her play, Toys In The Attic, was based on her Aunt Jenny and Aunt Hannah Hellman who owned and operated it as a boarding house. St. Vincent's Infant Asylum (now St. Vincent's Guest House), the brick and mortar legacy of inspirational philanthropist Margaret Haughery, will also be a part of the tour. The traditional "Lagniappe" house is also included. It is a grand home midway a major historic restoration.

Former Congresswoman and Ambassador to the Vatican, the honorable Lindy Boggs will lead a discussion and presentation of the role of women in New Orleans history which will be held in the home of educator Sophie Guided tours begin in New Orleans at 11 a.m. today for the "Women of the Lower Garden District - Their Homes, Their Life and Their Legacy," in honor of National Women's History Month.

Bell Wright beginning at 10:00 a.m. Authors Mary Gehman, Women of New Orleans, a history and Dr. Emily Toth, Unveiling Kate Chopin are also participating in the discussion. A special Sunday Crescent City Farmers Market will be in the park beginning at 10:00 a.m. along with area artists, baked goods, refreshments, Historic Magazine Row merchants and master artisans demonstrating their crafts.

Tickets for the tour can be purchased online at www.coliseum-square.org or at all Rue de la Course Coffee Shops for $16.00. For more information call 504-523-4376 or 504-671-8826.

Checking in with Ice-T

By John Crook
© Zap2it

There's a good reason Ice-T cuts so close to the bone in his portrayal of New York Police Detective Odafin "Fin" Tutuola on NBC's Tuesday-night drama "Law & Order: Special Victims Unit."

In a sense, this is a role he's been rehearsing for all his life.

"I'm basically playing myself if I was a cop," the New Jersey-born actor explains. "It's what (L&O executive producer) Dick Wolf told me he wanted."

If his tough performance seems real, it comes in what may seem an unlikely role to many. After all, a decade or so ago, Ice-T found himself at the center of a firestorm of controversy over his rap song "Cop Killer," a piece that became a flashpoint in the debate over whether the media glorified violence.

Still, the actor says he took it in stride when Wolf approached him about playing a gritty New York cop in this first spinoff to the mega-hit "Law & Order."

"With anyone else, maybe I would have been surprised, but Dick Wolf is an edgy guy," Ice-T says. "I had played a bad guy on his 'New York Undercover,' so he knew what I was about. He could read me. I don't think any of these other TV execs would have had the (guts) to do that."

Orphaned at an early age, Ice-T acknowledges that he fell in with Los Angeles gangs before a stint in the U.S. Army helped him focus on his priorities. An invitation to rap in the 1984 movie hit "Breakin'" led to more film roles, in addition to a recording career as a "gangsta rapper." He also is a published author and clothing entrepreneur.

Ice-T

Small wonder, then, that while Ice-T says he loves juicy scripts, "I love it when I have only a couple of lines in an episode, because that means I have more time off that week!"

Birthdate: Feb. 16, 1958.
Birth name: Tracy Marrow.
Marital status: Married to Darlene Ortiz since 1986; two children, Letasha and Tracy Jr. (aka "Little Ice").
His stage name: "Ice-T" is a tribute to the late Robert Maupin Beck III, a former pimp whose novels, written under the name of Iceberg Slim, were set in the criminal underworld.
Military service: U.S. Army, 1979-81.
Film credits include: "New Jack City"; "Ricochet"; "Tank Girl"; "Johnny Mnemonic"; "Judgment Day"; "3000 Miles to Graceland"; "The Wrecking Crew"; "The Heist"; "Kept"; "Stranded"; "On the Edge"; "Tracks."

A promising new ABC family sitcom takes the premise of an old NBC favorite - "The Fresh Prince of Bel-Air" - and stands it on its head, while carving out a distinctive niche all its own.

"The Big House," which begins a limited test run Friday, April 2, showcases likeable stand-up comedian Kevin Hart as a spoiled college kid who has been living a pampered lifestyle in Malibu until his widowed dad, an investment manager, is convicted of embezzling a fortune from his clients.

With his dad in prison, Kevin is shipped off to the Philadelphia home of the Cleveland's Aunt Tina (Ametia Walker, "Nurses"), Uncle Clarence (Keith David, "Barbershop") and three cousins - mountain-sized Warren (Faizon Love, "Elf"), testy Eartha (Yvette Nicole Brown, "Girlfriends") and bratty CJ (Aaron Grady).

Kevin, who is used to calling his own shots since his mother's death a few years earlier, experiences severe culture shock as he starts life again at the bottom - literally, since he has to share a basement bedroom with Warren. He also chafes under the house rules, better known as "the three Bs: be honest, be humble and behave," as well as the watchful eye of Aunt Tina, who keeps him on a short leash.

Obviously, this is familiar sitcom turf in many respects, but "The Big House" benefits from Hart's sunny amiability as well as his shrewd decision not to hog the spotlight. This sitcom is a Hart vehicle only in a superficial sense and, even from the premiere episode, a strong sense of ensemble prevails.

Stage veteran David gracefully side-steps clichés as Uncle Clarence, a cheerful yet firm-handed patriarch who refuses to apologize because the family's standard of living doesn't allow for luxuries such as cable TV.

Horoscope This Week

By Caroline James - Zap2it

Aries (March 21 - April 20)

It's high time you did something about your career. You've been in a rut for some time. Check the classifieds and send out resumes.

Taurus (April 21 - May 20)

It might be time for you to rethink how you're handling things at home. There's probably a better way. Ask someone you respect for help.

Gemini (May 21 - June 20)

You are not invincible. Surprised? If so, heed this advice: Know your limits, and don't bite off more than you can chew.

Cancer (June 21 - July 20)

It's time to throw out those possessions collecting dust. You may be sentimental, but you've got to make room for the new!

Leo (July 21 - Aug. 21)

Take stock of your relationships. Are you holding onto people who aren't suited to you anymore? If so, you know what you need to do.

Virgo (Aug. 22 - Sept. 22)

You're just going to have to learn to let go on the job. You can't and should not control everything. It is unproductive for all involved.

Libra (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22)

You might be hanging onto some values that no longer suit you. Wake up and smell the coffee. Expand your belief system.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 - Nov. 22)

Consider how well you're treating yourself. While you might be immersed in your quest for success, you won't get there if you're sick.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23 - Dec. 20)

Either breathe new life into old relationships, or commit yourself to ending them. It may seem harsh, but you know it needs to be done.

Capricorn (Dec. 21 - Jan. 19)

Creativity might be running low these days. Don't be concerned - it's only temporary. It will allow you to focus on practical issues in your life.

Aquarius (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)

You've got to approach old relationship issues in a new way. Otherwise, you'll never get anywhere. See it from the other person's point of view.

Pisces (Feb. 19 - March 20)

You might have to make some repairs at home. Don't wait on them. If you can't do them, call someone who can.

'Joan' resonates with a diverse audience

By John Crook
© Zap2it

God's chosen teenager is battling a devil of a cold.

"If I sound like a frog, it's because I've got a lot of them in here," Amber Tamblyn says apologetically, pointing to her throat as she settles into a chair on a front porch set for "Joan of Arcadia."

In this shadowy corner of a Sony Studios soundstage, the 20-year-old actress looks pale but pretty, wearing one of Joan's schlumpy coats and clasping a wadded tissue in her fist as she talks about her hit Friday night series, which won a People's Choice Award in January as favorite new drama.

"It's been nothing but positive," Tamblyn says of the public's embrace of her show. "People who come up to me seem to not want to intrude or get into a long conversation, but as they pass me they'll just touch my arm and say, 'I love your show,' and keep moving."

And, if God comes in many shapes to speak to Joan Girardi, the fans are every bit as diverse, Tamblyn adds.

"I had someone come up to me who was, like, 6 foot 2 and had his septum pierced and had a tattoo on his shaved head and sleeve tattoos with a really, really deep voice, (and he) told me he and his mother watch the show," she says, smiling. "That kind of thing happens all the time."

Part of the reason viewers flock to the show is that, in a sea of reality programming and crime dramas, "Joan" is centered around a loving but credibly flawed family with whom fans readily identify.

That's partly a tribute to the performances of Tamblyn and her co-stars - Joe Mantegna and Mary Steenburgen as her parents, Jason Ritter and Michael Welch as her brothers - but there's a palpable personal connection between these performers today as they get ready to film a scene in the Girardi kitchen.

Ritter, whose character has been partially paralyzed in a traffic accident, pops wheelies in his wheelchair while practicing his rolling entrance. As Steenburgen passes Tamblyn, she reflexively puts her hand on her TV daughter's forehead checking her for fever. Meanwhile, Mantegna, who is also under the weather, playfully bickers with Tamblyn over who is responsible for bringing germs onto the set, while Welch gets last-minute instructions from the director.

"It's kind of crazy, how close we've become, really even since the pilot," Tamblyn says. "The Girardis reflect real life, and people like to identify with that, to say, 'Oh, yeah, I've been through that.' The show reflects the reality of many families, with a little bit of magic added."

"I've heard from a friend of mine who is a confirmed atheist, who told me, 'Your show is making it a little more difficult,'" Steenburgen laughs during a break in filming. "From my mother-in-law, who is absolutely a devout Catholic, to others who are far, far more liberal, everyone I hear from seems to love it."

"I think it's because the writing is so true. To take something this mystical and ground it in this very flawed family (is inspired). The humor made me want to do it. I mean, face it, if anyone is going to argue with God, it's a teenager, right?"

A midseason Television Week critics' poll named "Joan" the season's best drama, even if some reviewers evidently weren't sure what to make of the quirky series when it debuted last fall.

"I did find it amusing when one critic wrote that the show was going to be Joan and God solving crimes together," says series creator and executive producer Barbara Hall, who points out that "Joan" takes a view of the Almighty that is anything but sentimental.

"I didn't actually get 'Touched by an Angel,' although I didn't really see it much," Hall says. "I don't believe God comes and fixes your problems. It's so obvious he doesn't, or at least, he doesn't fix mine. I've lost eight friends this year - that's the world I live in, and that's not even going (into) this horrible war we're in. I knew people who died in 9-11."

"That's the God we have to contend with. I can't do a show about how God is very sweet and if you have a problem, he'll come and take care of it. We deal with very dark things, whether it's suicide or paralysis or murder or horrible things that Joe (Mantegna's character) has to look at in his job. I want to put God into that context, not in a world where everything is fine. The paradox is that we are often in this intense pain, and what is God thinking? I don't know, but it's interesting to consider."

This TV family rallied off-camera last fall as cast member Ritter mourned the unexpected death of his real father, sitcom star John Ritter.

"I'm who Jason called when this first started happening," recalls Steenburgen, a family friend of the young actor even before she was cast as his TV mom. "So then I called Joe and Amber and within minutes of getting the news we were all reaching out to one another. I assured his mother we would all be there for him, but while that may have helped us bond even more deeply, it was even more intense before that."

Sturdy 'JAG' expected to return in the fall

By Taylor Michaels
© Zap2it

Q Why do I feel that this will be the final season of "JAG"?
A I'm 83 years old, and I love that show! -Pete in Maryland.

Probably because, from where you and many other "JAG" loyalists sit, your favorite show was unceremoniously bounced from its longtime Tuesday berth and relocated into what looked like a death slot on Fridays. Given the callous way networks often give the ax to old favorites with no apparent warning, I'm not surprised you're feeling nervous.

In this case, however, the move was all part of a CBS strategy to establish a beachhead on Friday nights, something that "JAG" has accomplished very handsily. CBS considers the David James Elliott drama one of its most valuable players and, barring major unforeseen circumstances, the hit series is a shoo-in to return for another season starting in the fall.

Q Is NBC's "Las Vegas" filmed in that city or in California studios? -Shirley Esch, Vancouver, Wash.

David James Elliott

A Both. Most of what you see in NBC's Monday night drama is filmed on soundstages in Century City, Calif., but from time to time cast members travel to Las Vegas to film exteriors and pick-up shots.

Q Several weeks ago, you mentioned Vanessa Redgrave's two daughters with Tony Richardson. She also had a son, Carlo, with her "Camelot" co-star, Franco Nero. What are they doing now? Does Vanessa have any other children? -Jeanne T. Perry, Miller Place, N.Y.

A Now 34, Carlo Gabriel Nero works as a writer and director, and just finished directing his mother and half-sister, Joely Richardson, in a film for HBO called "The Fever," adapted from a play by Wallace Shawn. Carlo's father, Franco Nero, now 62, enjoys an active career in both films and TV in his native Italy. As of this writing, he is co-starring with Derek Jacobi in a historical drama, "Venetian Heat," set for release later this year.

Redgrave has no children other than Carlo, Natasha and Joely.

Britney Spears trades teen-pop cheese for 'adult' sleaze

By Jacqueline Cutler
© Zap2it

Has Britney lost it? After watching promotional footage for an upcoming Showtime concert special, a better question may be: Does anybody want her to find it?

Spears' legions of fans are fascinated by her antics. They actually care about the marriage that had a shorter shelf life than dairy products. And some of the youngest ones might be allowed to stay up late to watch "Britney Spears Live From Miami" Sunday, March 28.

The rest of the population probably wonders why a pop singer who The New York Times says lip-synched a performance continues to have a certain cachet. Yet there's no denying she does. Walk by a newsstand and her blond hair and barely covered breasts are on display month after month.

Although Spears' behavior over the past year could be endlessly psychoanalyzed, clearly she is trying to expand her audience beyond the squealing girls and adolescents who made her a star.

The evidence is in "The Black Onyx Tour," which kicked off in San Diego in early March.

Parents of her young fans should be warned. For years, Spears has appealed to giggling preteens, who festoon their pink and purple rooms with her posters, sing along to "Oops, I Did It Again," and fight their mothers over wearing belly shirts.

Those days look positively tranquil compared to what Britney dishes up in this latest show. Parents who allow their children to watch R-rated movies may be comfortable with the content. Others will consider it tantamount to corrupting the morals of a minor.

Spears' handlers only permitted Showtime to provide a small amount of material for review, but what is shown is extremely suggestive. In her video for "Toxic," she appears as a stewardess - forget flight attendant because that implies a professional trained to help people in emergencies - in a throwback to the days of "Coffee? Tea? Or, me?" Spears is all dewy sexiness in a blue uniform that reveals far more than it covers.

She pushes a drink cart up the aisle, shaking her barely covered bon-bon, and spills a drink onto an inept fat man. She takes this passenger into the airplane bathroom to induct him into the mile-high club. As they start to kiss, she pulls off his ugly face and a handsome young hunk appears as she grinds against him. When they are finished, she takes his wallet.

Let it not be said that Spears is without talent. She can grind with the best of them, as she repeatedly illustrates. Also in the "Toxic" video, she wears a nude-colored bodysuit that is beautifully sewn with beads and spangles as she cavorts on the floor. She also changes into a "Matrix"-like cat suit that she tops with a fiery red wig. No one could accuse her of being too subtle.

In a brief electronic press kit, Britney answers a few softball questions. She says the title of her current tour was chosen because "the onyx stone is kind of symbolic of what guides me in my life." She does not elaborate on how the gemstone imparts wisdom, but there it is.

The next question is how this tour is different. "This tour will be a little older," she says, explaining she performs four or five songs from past albums.

Reviews of the live show say a lot of the tour is from her current compact disc, "In the Zone." The ballad "Everytime," about her breakup with Justin Timberlake, is "about the first true love, (which) a lot of people can relate to," she says.

Although Spears promises that the Showtime special, taped live from American Airlines Arena, "will be a different performance," she describes it in the next breath as "pretty much the same show as the show I'm doing on tour."

Usually when a major star does a show for television, that star grants interviews to promote it. Spears had agreed to an interview, but canceled without explanation. She later agreed to release the transcript of an interview with Showtime. Her managers then changed their minds. Finally, her people offered to have Spears answer 10 questions, but only via e-mail. Even if this is how life works on Planet Britney, it isn't Britney Spears brings "The Black Onyx Tour" to television Sunday when Showtime airs "Britney Spears Live From Miami." She says on performance day she gets "jitters just thinking about it."

for Earth's journalists - she blew it again by not responding.

Spears, of course, does not owe journalists anything, but it is curious when someone who seeks the spotlight with such fervor runs from it. Lucky for her, she arguably is the loveliest woman to jiggle and high-kick across a stage in a rubberlike cat suit. And this likely will be enough for the devoted fans attending one of the concerts in 25 cities, including Phoenix, Fresno, Seattle and Philadelphia.

When folks leave her concert, Spears says she wants them "to feel they had the most magical experience of their life."

While some may be transformed, others likely will feel the only magic

'Sopranos' co-star steps out as madam Heidi Fleiss

A star of "The Sopranos" is singing her own tune by playing arguably the most notorious madam of modern times.

Jamie-Lynn DiScala moonlights from her HBO series role as mob-family daughter Meadow in the title role of "Call Me: The Rise and Fall of Heidi Fleiss," a USA Network movie debuting Monday, March 29.

The film traces the path Fleiss took in becoming a major supplier of escorts to the rich and powerful - especially in Hollywood, where her black book was coveted by the police detectives who arrested her. They expected her to turn informant, but she didn't, resulting in her three-year prison stay.

Oscar winner Brenda Fricker ("My Left Foot") plays Fleiss' mentor, a friend of movie and TV director Ivan Nagy (Robert Davi, "Profiler"). Heidi's paramour, Saul Rubinek ("Unforgiven") portrays Fleiss' pediatrician father, and Corbin Bernsen ("L.A. Law") has the composite role of one of the young madam's clients.

Heidi Fleiss clearly is a showcase role, but DiScala (who was Jamie-Lynn Sigler before she married her manager in July 2003) had initial reservations about it. "I had a million-and-one preconceived notions about Heidi, just like everyone else," she reflects. "I talked with my husband about it, because the offer was pretty serious. He said, 'Let's approach it with the due diligence we give anything else and just read the script.'"

"I tried to disconnect myself from the fact that I knew who Heidi was, and just read it as an acting role. Then I thought, 'How many opportunities am I going to get at this age to be the lead in a film and play a role that is so colorful, and that is such a departure from anything I've done before?' I knew I'd not only be challenging myself, but challenging the way people see me as an actress. The career I strive for is one that can never be pigeonholed."

DiScala says her initial impression of Fleiss was of someone "who did something illegal and had no remorse or regret over it ... and got what she deserved. I thought it would be difficult for me to like and respect and want to play her, but I was pleasantly surprised that it wasn't. I don't expect to hear from her, but I hope to hear her reaction. Heidi enjoys being in the public eye, so I'm sure she'll announce how she felt about this."

Fleiss' story also was told in two previous films: director Nick Broomfield's 1995 documentary "Heidi Fleiss: Hollywood Madam," and the 1996 CBS drama "The Good Doctor: The Paul Fleiss Story."

DiScala feels the newest version differs by showing what Heidi's "day-to-day life was really like. This is an inside view, and it was fun for me to learn about her past. That's definitely the biggest appeal of the film."

Although she also starred in - and sang in - a touring production of "Rodgers & Hammerstein's Cinderella," and Broadway's "Beauty and the Beast," DiScala got a stronger sense of carrying an entire production from portraying Fleiss.

"It was a tremendous learning experience for me," she asserts. "I loved being in every scene and having the workload. The pressure really builds inside, though, once the filming is done and you're doing the final voiceover work and promotion. It's your name that's on the line. But however this is received, the lessons I learned made doing it well worth it."

Jamie-Lynn DiScala moonlights from her regular role as a mobster's daughter in "The Sopranos" to play the title part in the new movie "Call Me: The Rise and Fall of Heidi Fleiss" Monday on USA Network.

Winter transactions heighten anticipation for #### baseball

By Mark Passaro
© Zap2it

Baseball's hot-stove league resembled a towering inferno this past winter, headlined by a game of "can you top this" played by the Hatfields and McCoy's of the sport (aka the New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox).

For now, the frenzy of free-agent signings and trades are complete, and it's time to play ball, beginning with ESPN2's coverage of the season-opener between the Yanks and Tampa Bay Devil Rays, Tuesday, March 30, from the Tokyo Dome in Japan. The fact that the first game features American League East rivals is not lost on Harold Reynolds, who this year marks his eighth season as an analyst on ESPN's "Baseball Tonight."

"I think it's the toughest division in all of baseball," Reynolds says. "You have the most talent in that division, when you (consider) the last three A.L. MVPs are playing in that division. You've got a guy who's been MVP in the World Series in (Derek) Jeter. ... I mean you've got a lot of stuff going on in that division, but the best team I think is the Yankees. I think the best pitching is gonna be Boston, and in the end, the question will come down to: Will the Yankees go out and get somebody if they need more pitching? And I think that the owner is the intangible there, and I think George Steinbrenner's the guy who will go get it done."

By contrast, Reynolds believes the A.L. Central is baseball's weakest, but "that doesn't mean it won't be competitive," he says. "The White Sox are gonna be interesting, just because of the relationships with (new manager) Ozzie Guillen. I don't think they're as strong as they were last year because they lost some key players. Minnesota's lost some guys, too, that were very key. I think Kansas City is the team to beat in that division; I really do."

"The surprise team's gonna be Cleveland," Reynolds adds. "They've got some good, young talent. They're gonna surprise some people."

The additions of sluggers Vladimir Guerrero and Jose Guillen, and pitchers Bartolo Colon and Kelvin Escobar gives the Anaheim Angels the edge in the A.L. West, Reynolds says. "I think Anaheim is the team to beat out there. I like Oakland's pitching, but they don't have any offense. They haven't had offense for the last couple years. The difference with the American League and the National League, you're not bunting guys over (in the A.L.) every at bat, you know. In the American League, you've got mash (sluggers), and I just think that Anaheim's got the offense."

In the National League East, which the Atlanta Braves have ruled every season since 1991, Reynolds likes the Philadelphia Phillies, who added starter Eric Milton and closer Billy Wagner, over defending world champion Florida Marlins. "I think the Marlins are gonna be very competitive again, but I don't think Atlanta's gonna get the mileage they think they're gonna get out of people, so Philly, Florida, Atlanta (in that order)."

Reynolds doesn't think the Texas homecomings of Andy Pettitte and Roger Clemens will be enough to unseat the Chicago Cubs in the N.L. Central. "I'm picking the Cubbies," he says. "I think the Cubs are gonna win that division. I love Andy Pettitte and Clemens both, but I think the ballpark (Minute Maid Park in Houston) is gonna do them in. In the end, that park, you know, is worse than Colorado's at times. That's gonna hurt them. They're gonna give up some home runs."

No one currently epitomizes baseball's fascination with the long ball more than Barry Bonds, whose San Francisco Giants again are favored in the N.L. West. Bonds, though, must deal with accusations that his power numbers have been aided by steroid use. "I don't think (the controversy) is going to affect him any," Reynolds says. "Barry Bonds is gonna be great regardless of what ever happens. He's not gonna lose playing time, he's not gonna test positive, so he's gonna be fine, therefore he'll perform. I mean, if Barry was 110 pounds or 310, he's gonna hit, you know."

"He's always been a guy, even during the home-run race (in 2001), everybody was like, 'Oh, Barry won't be able to handle the media around him.' You know, he's been through the storms. I don't think he's gonna have a problem with handling what people say about him or anything like that. He's a very strong character."

"NASCAR Racing" Sunday, March 28 (Fox, 1 p.m. ET): There's something about Bristol Motor Speedway in Bristol, Tenn., that suits Kurt Busch just fine. Maybe it's the tight half-mile oval that requires a different racing mindset, one that Busch has mastered to the tune of three wins in the last four races here. Busch won both Bristol events last year, including his second straight Food City 500. Making it three in a row would further soothe the disappointment of finishing 11th in the Cup race in 2003.

"ATP Tennis" Sunday, March 28 (ESPN, 2 p.m. ET): The second event on the Tennis Masters Series schedule, the NASDAQ-100 Open features top talent on both the men's and women's side. The tourney began last week from Key Biscayne, Fla., with defending singles champions Andre Agassi and Serena Williams in the field, as well as 2003 finalists Carlos Moya and Jennifer Capriati. They were joined by three-time champion Venus Williams, U.S. Open champ Andy Roddick and men's world No. 1 Roger Federer.

"College Basketball" Saturday, April 3 (CBS, 6 p.m. ET): Everything is big in Texas, making the Lone Star State a perfect destination for college basketball's Final Four. The Alamodome in San Antonio is the site as the madness of March spills into April for five hours of frenzied semifinal action. The familiar voices of Jim Nantz and Billy Packer call the two games that will set the stage for Monday's championship clash.

Family Best Bets

Sunday

8:15 a.m. on TBS

Movie: Parenthood

Steve Martin stars as a beleaguered family man in this 1989 movie directed by Ron Howard. He and his wife (Mary Steenburgen) must deal with a nervous child, "perfect" neighbors, elderly parents and crazy siblings. The all-star cast includes Rick Moranis, Tom Hulce, Dianne Wiest, Jason Robards, Martha Plimpton and Keanu Reeves.

12:15 p.m. on TNT

Movie: Sleepless in Seattle

In Nora Ephron's 1993 romantic comedy about romantic destiny, a newspaper reporter (Meg Ryan) who recently became engaged becomes obsessed with meeting a romantic widower (Tom Hanks) after she hears him reminiscing about his late wife on a radio call-in show. Rosie O'Donnell and Rob Reiner also star.

Tuesday

6 a.m. on AMC

Movie: Young at Heart

Gig Young stars as Alex, a musician who hooks up with a musically inclined family. Unfortunately, the family has three daughters — each of whom have fallen for Alex. He chooses Laurie (Doris Day) and they become engaged. Into their lives enters Barney (Frank Sinatra), a friend of Alex, with a bitter take on life. Laurie sees him as a challenge, and vows to brighten his outlook. Ethel Barrymore, Dorothy Malone and Elizabeth Fraser co-star in the 1954 musical.

7 p.m. and AMC

Movie: Star Trek: The Motion Picture

After the success of George Lucas' "Star Wars," William Shatner, Leonard Nimoy and the rest of the "Star Trek" series regulars reunited for this 1979 big-screen blockbuster. With an alien force detected on its way to Earth, Adm. Kirk (Shatner) calls on the Enterprise crew to intercept the enemy ship. DeForest Kelley also stars.

Thursday

4:30 p.m. on HBO

Movie: Wild Hearts Can't Be Broken

The horses didn't really dive — they fell at fast speeds into the water. However, this 1991 heartwarming tale of a young woman's determination to ride diving horses nearly overrides the compassion for the equines. Sonora (Gabrielle Anwar) is a runaway with a dream, which almost is crushed by blindness. With the help of friends and the love of a good horse, Sonora makes her dreams come true. Michael Schoeffling and Kathleen York co-star.

7 p.m. on HALL

Movie: The Parent Trap

Despite several TV movie sequels and a 1998 remake, the Walt Disney-produced 1961 original still provides the most fun of all the tales in the series. Hayley Mills had one of her best roles — actually, two of them — as teenage twins Sharon and Susan, each of whom doesn't know of her look-alike until they meet at summer camp. Then, they become determined to reunite their divorced parents (Maureen O'Hara, Brian Keith).

Saturday

9 a.m. on HALL

Movie: Homeward Bound: The Incredible Journey

Chance, Shadow and Sassy (voices of Michael J. Fox, Don Ameche and Sally Field) are pets left behind when their human family goes on vacation in this 1993 adventure film. Not content to wait for their owners to return, the two dogs and a cat set out on a dangerous trek through the Sierra Nevada. Robert Hays, Kim Greist and Jean Smart star.

TV Trivia

Dougray Scott ("Ever After") was given the title of Most Promising Student at the Welsh College of Music and Drama.

Katey Sagal ("8 Simple Rules") was a backup singer for Bob Dylan, Gene Simmons, Tanya Tucker and Bette Midler.

Hayley Mills ("The Parent Trap") first appeared on screen when she was an infant, and won a British Film Academy Award as a preteen.

Sam Neill ("Merlin") was born in Ireland, moved to New Zealand at age 6, and was brought to the United States by actor James Mason.

Kevin Nealon ("Daddy Day Care") has a degree in marketing, and balanced his early standup performances with a gig as a bartender.

Sunday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 4-CBS

Cold Case

Rush and Valens (Kathryn Morris, Danny Pino) determine that a supposed hit-and-run accident on New Year's Eve 1999 actually may have been a premeditated murder in the new episode "Resolutions." The recovering alcoholic (guest star Leigh Kelly) supposedly responsible for the death is cleared, prompting the police detectives to question the victim's widow (guest star Stacy Edwards, "Chicago Hope") and others.

7 p.m. on 6-NBC

American Dreams

The new corporal (guest star John Sloan) in charge of JJ's (Will Estes) squad in Vietnam imperils the soldiers, then makes matters worse by trying to cover up his mistake, in the new episode "Stewart's Charge." Back at home, Helen and Jack (Gail O'Grady, Tom Verica) make a decision about Beth (Rachel Boston). Singer-songwriter Jason Mraz ("The Remedy") guest stars as Dion, and Fefe Dobson plays Tina Turner.

7 p.m. and TNT

Movie: Ever After

Drew Barrymore lights up the screen in this 1998 retelling of the Cinderella story set in 16th-century Europe. Her character, Danielle, has the requisite wicked stepmother (Anjelica Huston) and dirty domestic jobs, but she has far more pluck and determination than the usual fairy-tale heroine. Dougray Scott ("Deep Impact") plays the prince, with Patrick Godfrey as Leonardo da Vinci, the closest thing this version of the story has to a fairy godmother.

8 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Alias

The Rambaldi mystery is back in the forefront in the new episode "The Frame," as Sydney and Vaughn (Jennifer Garner, Michael Vartan) go after a prominent Covenant member (guest star Djimon Hounsou, "In America"). Lauren (Melissa George) faces multiple crises involving her mother (guest star Peggy Lipton, "The Mod Squad"), her senator father (guest star Raymond J. Barry) and her marriage to Vaughn.

8:30 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

Arrested Development

George-Michael (Michael Cera) becomes captivated by Gob's (Will Arnett) magic in the new episode "Missing Kitty," especially when Gob promises to make a yacht vanish. Lindsay (Portia de Rossi) gets a big shock when she tries to locate her long-missing grandmother. Michael's (Jason Bateman) attempt to fire Kitty (guest star Judy Greer) backfires when he discovers what she knows about his family.

Deadwood

The lone survivor of a massacre gets special attention from Swearingen, Doc Cochran and Calamity Jane (Ian McShane, Brad Dourif, Robin Weigert) in the new episode "Deep Water." Swearingen is concerned that Hickok (Keith Carradine) may be in cahoots with Bullock and Star (Timothy Olyphant, John Hawkes). A poker game provides the possibility for simmering hostilities to erupt.

All My Children

Spurred by a call from Babe, Paul arrived at the cabin and helped Babe deliver her baby boy. Paul then staged a helicopter crash and said that Bianca's child died in the accident. A suspicious Tad immediately accused Paul of lying. Meanwhile, with Babe unaware of her child's sex as her own health deteriorated, Paul gave Babe's boy to his sister, Kelly, and claimed that Miranda is Babe's daughter. Jamie snuck into Babe's hospital room after learning the seriousness of her condition. Kendall blamed Erica for Bianca's predicament. Erica prayed to God, promising to do whatever it takes to make things right for Bianca. Maria tried to accept Edmund's decision to proceed with the risky surgery. Coming: Tad sees Krystal in a different light.

As the World Turns

As Craig, Carly and Lucy unsuccessfully tried to find Rosanna in St. Bart's, she resurfaced in Oakdale at the Lakeview Lounge. Lily tried to explain to Holden why she needs to keep working with the Rose Foundation and asked for his help with the fund-raiser. Walker offered to take Barbara out of town to keep her medical appointments a secret. As Katie escalated her efforts to learn about Pilar's motives, Pilar began to suspect her of snooping, and Henry warned Katie that her actions are pushing Mike and Pilar closer. Coming: Allison and Chris try to get back on track.

Bold and Beautiful

Ridge was stunned to learn that Nick proposed to Brooke, and that Stephanie urged her to accept. Ridge burst into a Marone board meeting and yelled at Nick for his actions, but Nick got the last word when he told Ridge he wants to give his son the same life that Ridge was able to give his own children. As Jackie remained fearful of the consequences of keeping quiet, she again rejected Deacon's appeal to come clean, worrying she'll lose Massimo and Nick - then broke down in Deacon's arms. Hector looked on as Caitlin and Thomas shared their first kiss. Coming: Ridge vows to fight for Brooke.

Days of Our Lives

Tom's spirit led Alice to his grave, where she found the note incriminating Marlena. Aware that Alice has the evidence, Marlena was about to kill her when Tom, Maggie, Caroline and Roman's ghosts scared her away. Alice then called John, saying that Marlena is the killer and was about to murder her. Patrick wanted to leave town when Jennifer suffered abdominal pain, and Lexie explained that Patrick's assistance might have helped Jennifer to save her baby. Questioned by Abby about a strange coin he dropped, Patrick said it once belonged to pirates. Jan told Nicole she planned to kill Belle that night, and as Belle bathed, it appeared as though Jan would carry it out. Coming: John's world is deeply shaken by the revelations about Marlena.

General Hospital

To protect Nikolas' life, Emily agreed to make love to Zander, but he was unable to take advantage of her. When the police arrived, Zander pretended to reach for a gun and was shot, dying in Emily's arms. Meanwhile, an amnesiac Nikolas found himself in a widow's home, as Mary told Nikolas that she is his wife. The assassin met with Alcazar, who was responsible for the car bomb, and demanded more money from him. Morgan had a crisis when he came down with scarlet fever, but as the child improved, Carly made a vow to reunite her family. Still being pressured by Tracy and Edward for his vote, Dillon confided in Georgie, who admitted that she lied to him. Coming: Sonny learns Sam's true feelings about him.

Gulding Light

When Olivia found Phillip's pills hidden under his mattress, she was torn between getting him the help he needs or letting him deteriorate so he'll remain at Ravenwood and under her control. Alan told Alex he thinks they should give Olivia some power until it's time to toss her out of Spaulding. Bill proposed to Eden, who accepted, but she wants to keep their engagement a secret for now to protect him from Salem. After learning how Carrie got a student to tell the newspapers about Jeffrey and Marah's relationship, Remy made ground with Doris until Doris produced a bullet found in Carrie's cloak. Coming: Lizzie tries to uncover Sam's secret.

One Life to Live

Paul gave Kelly a baby boy, claiming the mother didn't want him. Although uneasy, Kelly took the child, as Dorian called Kevin and told him Kelly had the baby and is in the hospital. Although Antonio and John believed that Stephen could have staged his own death to frame John, when incriminating evidence came to light, Bo had to charge John with murder. Blair spoke to Evangeline and realized that it's possible Todd didn't rape her. Coming: Starr's behavior problems lead her into danger.

Passions

Having lost custody of her son for a year, Theresa attacked Gwen after hearing her suggest to her husband that they adopt Little Ethan. The judge then terminated Theresa's parental rights permanently. A desperate Theresa concocted a scheme to flee the country with her child. Luis became concerned about his mother's constant fatigue. When Pilar received tragic news about her health, Eve promised to help her. Coming: Theresa gets caught in the act.

Young and Restless

When Lauren posted Kevin's million-dollar bail, Paul angrily believed she has romantic feelings for Kevin. Feeling upbeat after getting encouragement from Damon, Phyllis asked Nick for her job back, but was turned down, then was ordered by Danny to back off from pressing him for a meeting with Daniel. Kay, Jill and Arthur agreed to do their best to make their new living arrangement work. As Ashley watched the video that revealed that Victor is Abby's father, she was unaware that Abby was just outside the door. Sharon took too many sedatives and was haunted by visions of Cameron, making her desperate to see his body for herself. Coming: Brittany weighs the advice she received.

Christel Khalil loves to pony up

By Paulette Cohn
© Zap2it

Even though Christel Khalil (Lily Winters) of "The Young & the Restless" claims not to like school, she does enjoy learning. The 16-year-old Daytime Emmy nominee is counting on her acting career to provide her with innumerable experiences.

"With a movie, you can travel to locations and learn about the character. But in TV, you don't have much time," she says. One can tell the young actress is thinking of Charlize Theron's performance in "Monster" when she adds, "But if you're playing a serial killer, you get to go to a jail and talk to a killer and ask, 'What is going on in your mind?'" That is the kind of homework that I think is fun."

Her studio teacher might not agree. However, Khalil, who normally is home-schooled, spends three hours a day of class time on the set. "I love the teachers, they are awesome. But after you have been doing emotional scenes for two hours, it is hard to go and do three hours of Algebra 2," she explains.

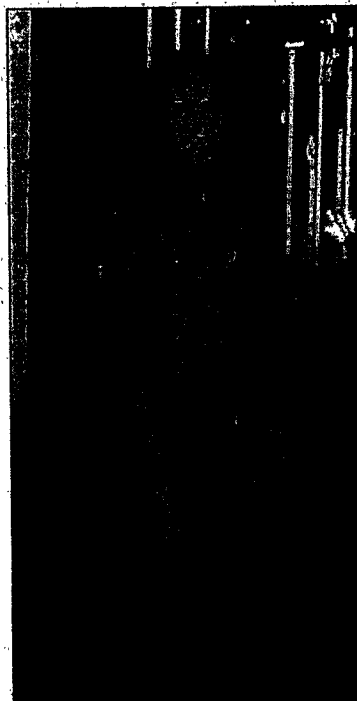

One educational institution that Khalil doesn't mind attending is pony class. "I just like riding for fun, because the competitive part of it gets too much because of the clothes that you have to buy and the saddles, and the girls are very pre-tentious," she says. "My dream is to do a movie where I can ride a horse. It would put my two loves together."

Dear Paulette: On "General Hospital," I really don't understand Sonny's (Maurice Benard) business. They keep saying he doesn't deal in drugs and how he won't let anyone else do it, but he is always monitoring shipments that make it sound like it isn't just coffee that he is actually dealing in. What gives? Can you give me the real scoop? -Jan from Louisiana.

Dear Reader: You aren't alone! No one - except maybe the writers - actually knows what Sonny is up to. He has these "transport" networks that ship a variety of what are most likely illegal goods, but never drugs. This is because a while back, he had a protege named Stone, who died of drug-related AIDS.

Then arrange the circled letters to form the bonus answer, as suggested by the above cartoon and bonus clue:

7 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

The Bernie Mac Show

Bryana (Dee Dee Davis) exhibits a big personality change that worries Bernie and Wanda (Bernie Mac, Kellita Smith) in the new episode "Five Stages of Bryana." When the formerly sweet-natured girl starts acting like a bully, a child therapist (guest star Simbi Khali Williams, "3rd Rock From the Sun") weighs in with an assessment of the possible reasons. A literal guinea pig factors into the solution.

7 p.m. on 38-WB

7th Heaven

Martin (Tyler Hoechlin) gets a shot at playing professional baseball, and worries Eric (Stephen Collins) by planning to drop out of school, in "Major League." Desperate to attend a party with Peter (Scotty Leavenworth), Ruthie (Mackenzie Rosman) recruits Lucy (Beverly Mitchell) to help sway Annie (Catherine Hicks). Chandler (Jeremy London) is visited by his mother (guest star Concetta Tomei, "Providence").

7 p.m. on FAM

Movie: The Sandlot

Scotty Smalls (Tom Guiry) desperately wants to fit in with the other boys in his new neighborhood, but one thing stands in his way: They all play baseball, and he knows nothing about the sport. When the local star player (Mike Vitar) takes Scotty under his wing, Scotty learns the game and builds valuable friendships. This 1993 heartwarming story also stars Patrick Renna and Marly York.

8 p.m. on 38-WB

Everwood

Despite the death of his series character, Colin, Mike Erwin makes a return appearance in the role in "Unspoken Truths." Amy (Emily VanCamp) finally comes to terms with Colin's passing at a party she attends with Tommy (guest star Paul Wasilewski). Ephram (Gregory Smith) gets in trouble while watching Madison's (Sarah Lancaster) band perform at a bar. Nina (Stephanie Niznik) receives divorce papers.

8 p.m. and USA

Movie: Call Me: The Rise and Fall of Heidi Fleiss

They called her the "Hollywood Madam," and her client roster read like the guest list for an exclusive Hollywood party. Jamie-Lynn DiScala ("The Sopranos") portrays the doctor's-daughter-turned-call-girl in this new dramatization of Heidi Fleiss' story. Brenda Fricker ("Veronica Guerin") plays the madam who teaches Heidi the ropes of the upscale escort business, which the younger woman eventually takes over.

9 p.m. on 4-CBS

CSI: Miami

Horatio (David Caruso) is suspicious of an ambitious reporter's (guest star Peter Spears) account of a politically connected friend's murder in Miami's drug district in the new episode "Deadline."

Tuesday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

8 Simple Rules

In the opener of a new two-part tale, "Let's Keep Going," Bridget and Kerry (Kaley Cuoco, Amy Davidson) are on their way to their grandmother's house when they spot Cate (Katey Sagal) at their dad's favorite watering hole with a stranger. Back home, Rory (Martin Spanjers) takes an interest in one of Kerry's friends (Nicole Mansour), much to Kerry's delight. James Garner also stars.

7 p.m. on 6-NBC

Whoopi

Mavis (Whoopi Goldberg) challenges an elderly tenant in the new episode "The Squatter." Annoyed at the woman's eccentric behavior, Mavis manages to get her placed in a retirement home. But the home is as horrible as the apartment's new, partying tenant (guest star Krysten Ritter).

7 p.m. and AMC

Movie: Star Trek: The Motion Picture

After the success of George Lucas' "Star Wars," William Shatner, Leonard Nimoy and the rest of the "Star Trek" series regulars reunited for this 1979 big-screen blockbuster. With an alien force detected on its way to Earth, Adm. Kirk (Shatner) calls on the Enterprise crew to intercept the enemy ship. DeForest Kelley and Stephen Collins ("7th Heaven") also star.

7:30 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

I'm With Her

Patrick (David Sutcliffe) doesn't anticipate the results of his comments to a writer about being Alex's (Teri Polo) boyfriend in the new episode "Eight Simple Rules for Dating a Celebrity." When his remarks end up as tabloid gossip, he's berated by Cheri (Rhea Seehorn) — which shocks him into fearing that everyone around him is a journalistic spy just waiting for his next words on Alex.

8 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

24

The series returns with "Day 3: 4:00AM — 5:00AM," starting an uninterrupted string of nine new episodes that will lead up to the season finale. As CTU seals off a Los Angeles hotel where one of the virus vials has been stashed, Jack (Kiefer Sutherland) tries to determine the identity of Amador's (guest star Greg Ellis) boss.

According to Jim

Andy's (Larry Joe Campbell) June about a wealthy client (guest star Nana Visitor, "Star Trek: Deep Space Nine") changes considerably in the new episode "Who's the Boss?" He detests the woman at first, then becomes her new boyfriend — to the astonishment of Jim, Cheryl and Dana (Jim Belushi, Courtney Thorne-Smith, Kimberly Williams-Paisley), who don't believe the new romance will last.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Frasier

Frasier and Niles (Kelsey Grammer, David Hyde Pierce) seek professional help with personal matters in the new episode "Match Game." Frasier hires a matchmaker (guest star Laura Linney) to fix him up with some interesting women, but the resulting dates are disappointing, and he wants his money back. Niles and Daphne (Jane Leeves) enlist a different kind of assistance with the birth of their child.

It's All Relative

Bobby's (Reid Scott) bachelor party is a camping excursion that keeps Mace (Lenny Clarke) at odds with Philip and Simon (John Benjamin Hickey, Christopher Sieber) in the new episode "Who's Camping Now?" An attractive park ranger (guest star Brooke Burke) helps turn the tables. Liz (Maggie Lawson) also has an eventful bachelorette party, especially since pole dancing is involved.

9 p.m. on 26-ABC

NYPD Blue

The shooting of an off-duty policeman (guest star Scott William Winters) yields little sympathy from Sipowicz (Dennis Franz), who has doubts about the cop's ethics, in the new episode "On the Fence." A run-down hotel is the site of an elderly man's murder. Lana Parrilla ("Boomtown") guest stars.

Wednesday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

That '70s Show

Eric (Topher Grace) proves to have a low tolerance for registering for wedding gifts with Donna (Laura Prepon) in the new episode "Do You Think It's Alright?" He comes up with a ruse to leave her to handle the task herself, but when she finds out, she enlists Jackie (Mila Kunis) in a revenge scheme. Hyde (Danny Masterson) doesn't want Jackie even to mention the subject of marriage.

Smallville

The sinister Morgan Edge — played by Patrick Bergin ("Sleeping With the Enemy") instead of the original actor, Rutger Hauer — is tracked down by Lex (Michael Rosenbaum), who becomes a target because of what he learns in "Shattered." Lex seeks help from Clark (Tom Welling), who finds no evidence of a threat and starts to wonder if Lex has imagined the situation.

Movie: One Fine Day

A missed field trip saddles two single parents (Michelle Pfeiffer, George Clooney) with child-care duties on a day when both are facing career crises. They help each other through the crazy day, and by the time it's over, sparks are flying — the good kind. Mae Whitman, Alex D. Linz, Anna Maria Horsford and Robert Klein also star in this 1996 romantic comedy, whose theme song earned an Oscar nomination.

8 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

The O.C.

Linda Lavin ("Alice") guest stars as Sandy's (Peter Gallagher) visiting mother in the new episode "The Nana." When she arrives for the Passover holiday, Seth (Adam Brody) tries to keep her from meeting Summer (Rachel Bilson), who is eager to have the encounter. Ryan (Benjamin McKenzie) searches for Marissa (Mischa Barton), who ran away after learning about Luke and Julie (Chris Carmack, Melinda Clarke).

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

The King of Queens

Carrie (Leah Remini) fears her own job is on the line after her boss is dismissed in "Eggst Strategy." She goes straight to the company chief (guest star Victor Raider-Wexler) to determine whether she has a future with the company, and she misreads the response she gets.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

The West Wing

C.J. (Allison Janney) is tailed for a day by a TV documentary crew making a special on White House press secretaries in the new episode "Access." Her stress mounts as she tries to prevent the visitors from learning of a violent confrontation between terrorists and FBI agents, and to get ready for a papal visit.

8 p.m. on TBS

Movie: Total Recall

An Oscar winner for its dazzling and plentiful special effects, this fast-paced, violent 1990 science-fiction adventure from director Paul Verhoeven stars Arnold Schwarzenegger as a man who discovers he previously lived another life as a spy on Mars. Others don't want him to recover his full memory. Rachel Ticotin and Sharon Stone co-star.

8 p.m. on TNN

Movie: Star Trek VI: The Undiscovered Country

During the last voyage of the original crew of the starship Enterprise, Capt. Kirk (William Shatner) and his crew negotiate peace with the Klingon leader. But a renegade (Christopher Plummer) sets a trap, and Kirk is charged with the murder of the Klingon chancellor. Directed by Nicholas Meyer, this 1991 film also stars Leonard Nimoy, DeForest Kelley and James Doohan.

9 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Stephen King's Kingdom Hospital

The psychic abilities of Mrs. Druse (Diane Ladd) come in handy when a teenager's spirit targets virtually everyone inside Kingdom Hospital in the new episode "Hook's Kingdom," co-written by series mentor King. Dr. Hook (Andrew McCarthy) makes a surprisingly earthbound emotional connection.

9 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order

The murder of an assistant district attorney who worked closely with McCoy (Sam Waterston) prompts a thorough re-examination of the cases the victim handled in the new episode "Nowhere Man." Briscoe and Green (Jerry Orbach, Jesse L. Martin) make shocking discoveries that reveal a false identity the man had assumed.

Movie: A League of Their Own

When World War II left a shortage of men to play professional sports, a women's baseball league was formed. Taken from a chapter in real-life sports history, this affecting 1992 comedy-drama — directed by Penny Marshall — stars Tom Hanks, Geena Davis, Madonna, Lori Petty and Rosie O'Donnell.

Thursday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

Tru Calling

Tru (Eliza Dushku) debates saving the life of a reporter (guest star Michelle Harrison) who has been on the trail of Tru's secret in the new episode "The Getaway." The journalist is fatally shot, and after Tru is sent back in time to prevent the incident, her indecision about what to do is complicated when the shooter follows a different path than he originally did.

7:30 p.m. on 38-WB

Like Family

Keith (J Mack Slaughter) is torn between staying faithful to his girlfriend (guest star Ashleigh Ann Wood) or straying with a tempting new romantic prospect (guest star Tamara Feldman) in the new episode "Romancing the Home." Danika (Megaly Echikunwoke) is mortified by the way Tanya and Maddie (Holly Robinson Peete, Diane Farr) act at her party.

7:32 p.m. on 6-NBC

Will & Grace

Will (Eric McCormack) decides the time has come for Grace (Debra Messing) to meet his new boyfriend (guest star Bobby Cannavale) in the new episode "Fred Astaire and Ginger Chicken." Grace doesn't have much time for the meeting, prompting Will to suspect she doesn't care for his beau — and to second-guess his new relationship.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

CSI: Crime Scene Investigation

A suspect (guest star Erik Passoja) in a beating death at a casino dies himself while he is in police custody in the new episode "Bad to the Bone." Grissom (William B. Davis) and the other CSI investigators eventually connect the deceased suspect to a long-unresolved disappearance.

8:59 p.m. on 6-NBC

ER

As the performance of the residents are assessed, Dr. Carter (Noah Wyle) encourages Neela (Parminder Nagra) to show more initiative — leading to her action and a cover-up attempt by Dr. Galant (Sharif Atkins) — in the new episode "The Student."

J Mack Slaughter

Friday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 4-CBS

Joan of Arcadia

Russ Tamblyn ("West Side Story") — he father of title star Amber Tamblyn — reprises his earlier guest role as a dog walker in the new episode "Do the Math," directed by actor Rob Morrow ("Northern Exposure"). While paying or piano lessons by cleaning for her roachety teacher (guest star Louise Fletcher), Joan finds an old record album with surprising significance to her instructor. Joan also seeks a previously unknown relative.

7 p.m. on 38-WB

Reba

Cheyenne's (JoAnna Garcia) worries about the durability of her marriage come to the surface in "To Tell the Truth." When she becomes aware that he team's publicist (guest star Sarah Shahi) gave Van (Steve Howey) a ride home — something he didn't mention himself — Cheyenne accuses him of being unfaithful and sends him packing.

7 p.m. and TBS

Movie: O Brother, Where Art Thou?

Made by siblings Joel and Ethan Coen ("Fargo"), this 2000 comedy loosely was inspired by Homer's classic "The Odyssey." It puts three escaped convicts (George Clooney, John Turturro, Tim Blake Nelson) on the run from pursuers and toward considerable wealth. They seek a hidden treasure, but many complications arise. The bluegrass soundtrack, honored by the Country Music Association Awards, spawned a concert tour.

7:30 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

The Big House

"Hart Transplant" — this comedy series' premiere episode — introduces Kevin (Kevin Hart), a spoiled young Southern Californian who's used to coming and going as he pleases. That changes when his father is jailed for embezzlement, and he has to move in with relatives in Philadelphia. It's sheer culture shock for Kevin, who's now part of a family that wants to know where he is at all times and expects him home for dinner every night.

8 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

Wonderfalls

Jaye's (Caroline Dhavernas) efforts to help her father (William Sadler) collect trash from the front lawn of her family's home lands her father in the hospital in the new episode "Pink Flamingos." The situation has a hidden meaning, as do the instructions Jaye gets to help a longtime enemy plan the reunion of their high-school class.

8 p.m. on 38-WB

Grounded for Life

Claudia and Lily (Megyn Price, Lynsey Bartilson) square off in an intelligence showdown in "SAT and Sympathy." They initially work together in prepping Lily for her SAT, but Claudia becomes compelled to prove herself smarter. Henry (Jake Burbage) heeds Sean's (Donal Logue) advice to respect the needy, forcing his dad to take a homeless man (guest star Dave Sheridan) into their home.

8:30 p.m. on 26-ABC

on 13-ABC

Life With Bonnie

The big boss at the TV station asks a reluctant Bonnie (Bonnie Hunt) to meet with a plastic surgeon (guest star Dax Shepard) in the new episode "Nip, Tuck and Roll." She gets more than she bargained for, and just what she feared, from the encounter.

9 p.m. on 4-CBS

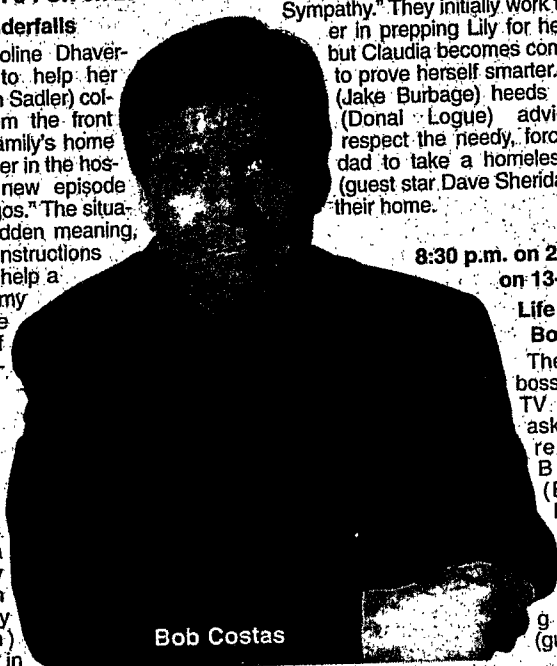

The District

The subject of a traffic warrant, Manion (Craig T. Nelson) ends up jailed in the town where he tries to fight his arrest, in the new episode "The Black Widow Maker," directed by series co-star Jonathan LaPaglia. While there, he becomes involved in an attempt to prove a murder suspect innocent (guest star Dagny Kerr). The story reteams Nelson with guest stars, and former "Coach" regulars, Jerry Van Dyke and Bill Fagerbakke.

10 p.m. on HBO

On the Record

Veteran sportscaster Bob Costas launches the fourth season of his magazine program, which includes interviews not only with athletes, but also with celebrities who discuss their respective attachments to the sports world.

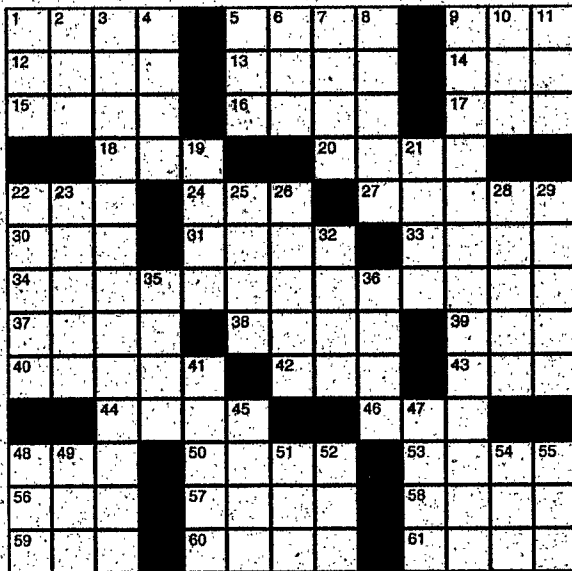

Bob Costas

Saturday Best Bets

5 p.m. on 4-CBS

College Basketball

Everything is big in Texas, making the Lone Star State a perfect destination for college basketball's Final Four. The Alamodome in San Antonio is the site as the madness of March spills into April for five hours of frenzied semifinal action. The familiar voices of Jim Nantz and Billy Packer call the two games that will set the stage for Monday's championship clash.

Movie: Bill & Ted's Excellent Adventure

Slacker dudes Bill and Ted (Alex Winter, Keanu Reeves) have a lot riding on their final history report. For one thing, if Ted flunks history, he's off to military school in Alaska. But thanks to a mysterious stranger and a time machine, the boys deliver a presentation that knocks everyone's socks off, complete with actual historical figures from Socrates to Sigmund Freud. George Carlin also stars in this 1989 comedy classic.

6 p.m. on TBS

Movie: Life

Previously teamed in "Boomerang," Eddie Murphy and Martin Lawrence get to share much more screen time in this 1999 comedy, which has surprisingly bitter-sweet moments. The stars play men wrongly sentenced to a Mississippi penitentiary. Over their years in the facility, they learn many life lessons. As their characters age, the actors sport makeup by Oscar nominee Rick Baker.

Movie: The Emperor's New Groove

Hardly the traditional sort of Disney fantasy, this animated 2000 comedy movie focuses on a young monarch (voiced by David Spade) who makes the mistake of angering one of his aides (Eartha Kitt). She uses her magic to turn him into a llama, and he must rely on a peasant (John Goodman) to help him return to his normal life.

Movie: The Thomas Crown Affair

Pierce Brosnan steps into the shoes of Steve McQueen in this 1999 remake of the 1968 caper classic. In the original, bored millionaire Crown tried bank robbery for a new kick. This time, Crown is still rich, still bored, but his new hobby is art theft — specifically, relieving a museum of a $100 million painting in broad daylight. Rene Russo plays an insurance investigator fighting her attraction to the dashing Crown.

7 p.m. on BRAV

Movie: Twins

Julius (Arnold Schwarzenegger), a genetically engineered perfect human specimen, learns he has a less-than-identical twin brother (Danny DeVito) in this sweet 1988 comedy. The two find each other and go looking for their roots — specifically, their mom. Along the way, they discover brotherly love, as well as that of the romantic variety with a pair of sisters. Kelly Preston and Chloe Webb co-star.

7 p.m. on NICK

Nickelodeon's 17th Annual Kids' Choice Awards

Soon to be heard reprising their voice roles in the movie sequel to "Shrek," Cameron Diaz and Mike Myers — who have attended this event before as recipients — share the hosting duties for this year's edition. Diaz seemed pretty stunned the last time by the amount of noise that hundreds upon hundreds of youngsters can generate. She'd better be ready this time, as kids' favorites in areas ranging from television to sports again are revealed.

Movie: Jerry Maguire

Tom Cruise stars as a high-powered sports agent who has a crisis of conscience in this 1996 Oscar nominee for best picture. After losing his job for speaking his mind, he decides to start his own business with the help of an attractive co-worker, played by Renée Zellweger. Cuba Gooding Jr.'s inspired performance won him the best supporting actor Oscar. Bonnie Hunt, Regina King and Jay Mohr also star.

7 p.m. on HBO

Movie: Identity

A fierce rainstorm strands a group of strangers at an isolated motel in this effective, "Ten Little Indians"-style 2003 thriller. Though they don't think they have much in common initially, the increasingly terrified people realize something specific has brought them together as a killer stalks them. The cast includes John Cusack, Ray Liotta, Amanda Peet, Alfred Molina, Rebecca De Mornay and John C. McGinley.

9 p.m. and USA

Nashville Star

In the same spirit that has led music superstars to "American Idol" when their songs are rendered by the contestants, country icon Willie Nelson is on hand as the six remaining contenders perform some of his most famous tunes in this new episode. Don't be surprised if Nelson breaks into a melody during the course of the program.

(Ratings for each film begin with a "star" rating: one star meaning "poor," four meaning "excellent" - followed by the Motion Picture Association of America rating, and then by a family-viewing guide, the key for which appears below.)

STARTING THIS WEEK (New releases):

"SOMETHING'S GOTTA GIVE": In an Oscar-nominated performance, Diane Keaton has her best role in years by reteaming with writer-director Nancy Meyers ("Baby Boom," "Father of the Bride"). In this delightful romantic comedy, Keaton plays the playwright mother of the latest conquest (Amanda Peet) of a notorious womanizer (an enjoyably self-mocking Jack Nicholson). He falls for Mom, who also is being courted by a much younger doctor (Keanu Reeves). Frances McDormand and Jon Favreau co-star. DVD extras: theatrical trailer; audio commentary by Keaton, Nicholson and Meyers; set tour with Peet; deleted scene. *** (PG-13: AS, N, P).

"THE TEXAS CHAINSAW MAS-SACRE": Three decades after the original chiller comes a remake, which has its own potency even if it isn't likely to be as enduring. Jessica Biel stars as one of several acquaintances who fall prey to a sinister family led by "Leatherface" (Andrew Bryniarski), who has a yen for wearing unusually realistic masks. Those weak of stomach, be forewarned: the gore quotient is right at the top of the chart. DVD extras: theatrical trailers; "making-of" documentary; audio commentaries by director Marcus Nispel, producer Michael Bay and other crew members.

Video Vantage

deleted scenes; alternate opening and ending; music video; TV spots; screen tests; "Goin' The Ghoul of Plainfield" documentary; art gallery; DVD-ROM features. ** (R: AS, P, GV)

"BROTHER BEAR": A big dose of spiritualism factors into this animated Disney feature, boasting tunes by Phil Collins. Joaquin Phoenix supplies the voice of a hunter determined to avenge his eldest brother's death by targeting the bear responsible. Magic turns him into a bear himself, and also into the target of his equally vengeful other brother (voice of Jason Raize). Former "SCTV" mates Rick Moranis and Dave Thomas also are in the voice cast, along with D.B. Sweeney, Michael Clarke Duncan and Jeremy Suarez ("The Bernie Mac Show"). DVD extras: audio commentary by Moranis and Thomas (as the characters Rutt and Tuke); "making-of" documentary; deleted scenes; outtakes; games; Phil Collins song; Phil Collins music video; "Sing-Along Songs." ** (G)

"HOUSE OF SAND AND FOG": Circumstance draws dissimilar people into a tense situation in this unusual, well-executed drama, featuring typically fine work by recent Oscar nominee Ben Kingsley. He plays an ex-confidant of the Shah of Iran who tries to start his life over in the United States, where he purchases a house seized from a woman (Jennifer Connelly) for her failure to pay a wrongly assessed tax. Determined to get her former residence back, she enlists a willing policeman (Ron Eldard) in a campaign against the new owner. DVD extras: audio commentary by Kingsley, director Vadim Perelman, novelist Andre Dubus III and crew members; "making-of" documentary; deleted scenes; outtakes; screen tests; photo gallery. *** (R: AS, P, V)

"NOVA: MARS DEAD OR ALIVE"

First televised by PBS very shortly after the airbag-protected landing of a rover named Spirit on the red planet, this program includes a segment on how the touchdown went ... which will be recalled by anyone who saw news footage of the reaction in the control room. Also featured is a complete history of the NASA project, which was launched to determine whether water exists in liquid form on Mars, and whether life can be sustained there. Electronic and design problems that nearly ended the mission are detailed. *** (Not rated)

"HANGMAN'S CURSE": Based on the novel by "Veritas Project" writer Frank Peretti, this suspense movie aims to retain the thrills while jettisoning elements that mark so many other films in the genre these days, particularly overt violence and foul language. A strange illness befalls students of a high school in the Pacific Northwest, prompting one pupil (Leighton Meester) and her parents (David Keith, Mel Harris) to try to get to the bottom of the situation. Co-stars include William R. Moses ("Falcon Crest") and Peretti. DVD extras: theatrical trailer; "making-of" documentaries. ** (PG-13: AS, V)

COMING SOON (Upcoming releases):

"CHEAPER BY THE DOZEN" (April 6): Steve Martin and Bonnie Hunt play the heads of a household that includes 12 children. Hilary Duff and Tom Welling ("Smallville") co-star. (PG: P)

"THE MATRIX REVOLUTIONS" (April 6): In the climax of the science-fiction trilogy, Neo (Keanu Reeves) and his comrades defend their world against an invasion by machines. (R: AS, P, V)

On TV

Eve raps way to stardom, own TV show and fashion line

By Jacqueline Cutler
© Zap2it

Eve, star of UPN's eponymous sitcom, is late. It's the sort of incredibly late that sends those waiting for her storming out of restaurants.

"There's East Coast time and West Coast time and colored people time and Eve time," says Jason George, who plays her boyfriend, J.T., on the show. "She is extra behind."

George, who worked with Eve in "Barbershop," took this job because of her. "Hugging on Eve is not a bad gig," he says. "She is a beautiful person. She is real people."

Despite the fortune Eve makes from three hip-hop compact discs, tours, movies, the show and her clothing line, Fetish, she keeps her stilettos firmly rooted on the ground. The heels are attached to turquoise suede boots, just one part of many outfits on a recent day that includes two local news show appearances, "The View," "TRL" and taking in an evening show during Fashion Week in New York.

At the moment, Eve is casual. Her jeans and baby-blue cashmere sweater are accented by the right amount of diamonds for someone lunching at the Ritz Carlton. Eve, 25, orders green tea with honey and settles in to talk about her very busy life.

"I always knew I didn't want a regular life," she says. "I didn't want to grow up and have babies. I just never wanted that because I saw the women in my family, my grandmother, my mother, my aunt had children when young. I wanted something different."

She has it. On the show, Eve plays Shelly, who sells her original designs at her own boutique, DivaStyle, where she works with her two friends, Rita and Janie (Ali Landry, Natalie Desselle-Reid). The Monday sitcom, which chronicles Shelly's attempts to balance a career and boyfriend, has become the No. 2-rated show among blacks, after "Girlfriends," according to Nielsen Media Research.

Eve clearly is a star, evidenced by her ability to shine in the single-moniker league of Madonna and Cher. And she comes off as a star, with the trappings but without the airs. After all, it hasn't always been cashmere sweaters and lunch at the Ritz.

Eve Jeffers, aka Eve of Destruction and Pit Bull in a Skirt, grew up without much money but with a strong mom in west Philadelphia. She easily could have gone down the wrong path; at 18 she spent a couple of months stripping at a Bronx club. Eve does not try to hide her past.

"For me, it was more of a figuring out my life," she says nonchalantly. "I saw enough to keep me away from it. And, as soon as I quit, three weeks after, I got a call to audition for Dre."

That's rapper/music producer Dr. Dre, and Eve was soon using her other talents. She has been rapping and touring for years, but she stumbled into acting. "It just happened," she says. "I started getting offers to be in movies. I was thinking, 'I am not an actress. What do they want?' I got an acting coach."

Whatever it is they wanted, she had it. Eve is in two films due this year, and on the TV show, she comes off as completely natural. "The first couple of months, it was very hard for me," she admits. "It was monotonous. I used to take different routes to work to break it up."

"I took the show because I wanted stability. I was on the road for 4 1/2 years. I wanted a couch."

Now, she says, "I have a couch! I have a home. It feels good." Besides her place in Los Angeles, she wants a house in Manhattan, but she's appalled by the prices. "For $1.3 million, they need to
